IT WAS ONLY a tomato patch a few months ago, but now it is Acalanes High School! This picture, taken recently, shows construction in progress at our first—and only—high school in the newly formed Acalanes District. Already there are signs of crowding in the school as the doors were opened this semester to 350 students. It is hoped that the cafeteria and gymnasium will be completed soon.

350 Enroll in Acalanes High School

Classrooms Crowded as School Starts 1st Year

Acalanes High School, in the final stages of construction, has opened its doors to some 350 students. However, the cafeteria, gymnasium and some other departments are not yet completed, according to board of trustees clerk M. H. Stanley.

The initial enrollment would have been somewhat larger except for the fact that some 12th grade students at Mt. Diablo High who are residents of this area have decided to contine at Mt. Diablo and graduate there, Stanley said.

The six-month construction project on the 22-acre site on the "Martinez turnout" has been under the firm of L. S. Peletz and Sons of Stockton, who submitted the low bid of $239,850 earlier this year.

HOWEVER, selection of a few alternates have brought the total bid close to $250,000.

In addition, outside ground construction will be undertaken as a WPA project.

The design of the buildings is functional, to give maximum educational advantages for a minimum cost commensurate with sound quality.

First class material and construction was specified throughout.

CLASSROOMS are insulated to reduce extremes of temperature and heating costs. Acoustically treated celings improve study conditions.

Linoleum flooring is provided to absorb sound and make for hygenic class conditions.

Report on the soil analysis by Mark Folk consulting structural engineer, indicates that subsoil conditions are satisfactory.

The ground development and recreation plans were by architects Franklin and Kump and Narbett, and A. A. Coddington was consulting mechanical engineer from San Francisco.

BIDS FOR the contract were opened in Lafayette Grammar School.

In addition to the main bid were prices submitted for cafeteria equipment, gymnasium stage equipment, lighting fixtures for the stage, installation of public address units throughout the school and other improvements.

Other bidders for the job were as follows: Trewitt, Shields and Fisher; R. W. Brown Construction Company; Carl N. Swenson Company; K. E. Parker and Company, Miller Construction Company, Elmer Freethy, Schuler and McDonald, Inc.; J. C. Myers, S. C. Gles, Leo Epp, Nielsen and Erbentraut, L. H. Henson and Son.

The groundbreaking ceremonies in March were attended by more than 500 persons. Joseph E. Lawrence, chairman of the board of trustees, turned the first shovelful of earth.

PRINCIPAL Stanley Warburton introduced the other board members, including M. S. Jacobus, C. C. Morse and J. F. Chaddock.

Invocation was by Rev. Robert Porter of Walnut Creek.

The benediction was read by Brother Albert, LL.D., president of St. Mary's College.

Margaret Jones sang "God Bless America" and was accompanied by Patricia Garbutt on the violin.

THE MT. Diablo High School Band played "King Cotton March" and "Agnus Dei."

J. Farrell Reilly directed the Walnut Creek Elementary School Band in "Golden Gate," "Gymnasium" and "Vacation Days."

Presentation and retirement of the colors were handled by local American Legion Posts.

It's Not Entirely A Gag...Read On...

No, we didn't goof. We put that 1940 dateline you see at the top of the page right where it is on purpose.

We were looking through the back files a week or so ago, and we were amused by the fact that things haven't changed so much after all.

For instance, if you glance through the stories on these pages—and they are all real—you will find that people who lived in Central Contra Costa County were battling over the same things 20 years ago as they are today.

An Example: We're still fighting over roads, bond issues for street improvements, and better traffic flow. Then, they were asking for the same thing, only it was called a four-lane highway from Walnut Creek to Orinda.

SURE WE HAVE freeways now, but we have the same problems.

Do you sometimes feel that you are the only person in the world with a zoning problem in your neighborhood? Take a look at the story about building a factory next to Acalanes High School. And if it had happened, wouldn't that have been something?

DO YOU THINK the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District has become an empire? Residents then were concerned over the value in establishing such a district.

And so it goes. Although you might find these stories humorous, you will also find that they point out an interesting thing:

The basic problems don't seem to change. Just the size and coloring.

Pleasant Hill Will Get EBMUD Water If Vote Is Passed

Pleasant Hill County Water District electors will go to the polls January 23 to ballot on the proposed annexation to the East Bay Municipal Utility District.

The polls will be located in Pleasant Hill Elementary School and will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Money for installation of primary water mains throughout the Pleasant Hill county water district already has been assured through passage and sale of a $125,000 bond issue.

Affiliation with EBMUD is expected to be little more than a legal formality since water committees named by residents have worked toward Mokelumne water for the past two years and have had the assistance of EBMUD engineers.

If the annexation is approved, the initial mains are expected to be in the ground by late summer.

Lafayette Will Get 1st Bank

The State Bank Commissioner in San Francisco announced Tuesday that authority had been granted to B. G. Ensign to open a bank in Lafayette.

The new bank will be known as the Lafayette Commercial and Savings Bank and will have a capital stock of $50,000 and a surplus of $12,500. The bank will offer complete savings and loan service and deposits will be insured up to $5000 under the federal government, according to Ensign.

Ensign further commented, "The entire capital stock will be held by local men and the management will be 100 per cent home owned."

Well known in this part of the county, Ensign was interested in banks at Walnut Creek and Danville for many years. In 1933 he sold his interests in these institutions to F. A. Marshall and his associates of Walnut Creek, who later sold out to the Bank of America.

After leaving this area, Ensign engaged in the banking business in Northern California. He states he has had his eyes on Lafayette for some time and that he plans to give Lafayette a "personalized banking service."

The business and personal lives of members of the community will be greatly affected by a bank. This new development is the single step forward for Lafayette since the completion of the Broadway Tunnel.

Greyhound Offers Transportation For Commuters

Pacific Greyhound this week announced an application to the California Railroad Commission to purchase the Rhodes Stages and the bus operations of the Sacramento Northern Railway, both of which now serve this area with local transportation service.

Ted Finkbohner, Greyhound superintendent of transportation, made the announcement of his company's plans.

FINKBOHNER said, "Greyhound is now operating in and through this territory and is in a position to offer the resdents of Contra Costa County a dependable transportation service that will keep pace with this fast-growing section."

If the application now before the California Railroad Commission is approved, Greyhound will take over the service now performed by the Sacramento Northern Bus Line between San Francisco, Oakland, Orinda, Lafayette, Walnut Creek, Concord, Port Chicago and Pittsburg, with a branch line to Danville and Diablo.

IT WILL also operate over the present route of Rhodes Stages between Berkeley, through the tunnel to Orinda, Lafayette both direct via Moraga and St. Mary's into Walnut Creek.

The present schedule, service and fares will be continued by Greyhound if it is permitted to take over these local operations. Improvements and coordination will occur gradually as conditions warrant.

WC Council Urges 4 Lane Road Between City, Orinda

A resolution urging that Tunnel Road be widened to a four lane highway all the way to Walnut Creek was passed Wednesday by the Walnut Creek City Council.

The resolution points out that increasing traffic has rendered a three lane highway dangerous, that this section of the county is building up rapidly and that while the road is four lanes in places, it narrows to a three lane highway from the junction to Walnut Creek.

The resolution further urges that Frank W. Clark, director of public works, and the State Highway Commission give the matter immediate attention.

COUNCIL action follows closely a suggestion from the Greater San Ramon Valley-Walnut Creek Chamber of Commerce. The chamber is but one of many organizations opposed to Tunnel Road, "scenic as it may be, but a winding lane which leads to death."

The three lane highway alternates to four lanes at nine different places along the 6.5-mile strip from Orinda to Walnut Creek. Among these changes of lanes are the danger spots at the crest of Charles Hill Road, through Lafayette, at the crest of the hill by the cemetery just beyond Lafayette and on the crest of the hill near upper Saranap Road.

THE CALIFORNIA Highway Commission earlier this year turned down a proposal that Tunnel Road be widened. State Highway Engineer C. H. Purcell told a delegation that the estimated $100,000 for the six mile project made it prohibitive at the present time, but agreed it should be undertaken as soon as possible.

Purcell announced, however, that $15,000 had been allotted to provide non-skid surface to the highway.

A survey conducted a year ago in December showed that speeding caused most of the auto accidents in Contra Costa County and that most of the crashes occurred on Tunnel Road.

Among the many groups urging widening of the road are the Lafayette Improvement Club, Orinda High School Mothers Club, Lafayette Breakfast Club and the Moraga Highway Improvement Association.

HERBERT Hauser, president of the Moraga Improvement Association reported that a request to the State Highway Commission for channelization of the Orinda crossroads intersection on Tunnel Road had been "encouragingly received."

Hauser added that the request for the appropriation would have to wait until July when all appropriations are studied.

Cummings Has Strong Vote In Primaries

(Editor's Note: Due to the horse show last week, this paper was unable to carry a story of the local primary election results.)

H. L. (Jack) Cummings, unopposed for re-election as county supervisor, District 2, received 3358 votes.

Hiram Johnson ran well ahead in the United States Senator primary race, with others trailing, including Ford, Patterson, Yorty, Meredith and Otto.

Carter, republican, ran well ahead of Chapman, democrat, in the race for congressman, Sixth District.

DeLap, republican, walked away in the primary voting from Chapman, the democrat candidate.

Crime Arrests Down in 1939; Radios Installed

Sheriff John A. Miller in his crime report for 1939 said that there were 807 arrests within the county and its cities, compared to 829 arrests for 1938.

There were 919 arrests in 1937, a total of 951 for 1936 and 921 for 1935.

Officers working out of the sheriff's office made 188 of the arrests in 139, while Richmond police made 124 arrests and the California Highway Patrol 122 arrests.

The county's 17 constables brought 199 suspects to the county jail for detention.

The cities' records are as follows: Martinez police, 103 arrests for the year; Pittsburg, 63; Concord, 41; El Cerrito, 20; Antioch, 16, and miscellaneous 16.

Morals raids netted 17 persons during 1939, while there were only eight such arrests during the previous year.

Drunk driving charges numbered 159 both this year and in 1938, but drunkenness arrests fell off from 174 to 89 during that period.

Miller added that he has employed several new officers forming full time patrols in the county's rapidly developing unincorporated area, and a new two-way radio communications system has been installed in sheriff's cars.

Mattson Will Head Dimes Drive

Erwin Mattson, Acalanes High School coach, has been named Lafayette district chairman for the local March of Dimes.

Assemblyman Harold F. Sawallisch, general county chairman for the committee for the celebration of the President's birthday, announced today, "With the full support of the PTA behind the idea, it is expected that a March of Dimes Day will be conducted in practically every school in Contra Costa County within the next two weeks."

Last year many schools of the county participated in this work of mercy and a considerable amount was realized from that source. The pennies and dimes of the school children helped to save other Contra Costa County boys and girls stricken with infantile paralysis from a lifetime of helplessness.

Area Defense To Be Studied By Reservists

Military defense of this area, including terrain exercises, will be studied by residents who are reserve officers of the United States Army, at their meeting Sunday at the Lafayette town hall.

The growing international tension and deterioration of relations with the Empire of Japan was given as a reason for the meeting.

The group will also study large scale maps of the area.

Cummings Denies College Gates Opened at Flood

A denial that the reservoir dam at St. Mary's College had been opened during the peak of the spring floods was issued during a meeting on damage resulting from Las Trampas Creek flooding.

Residents of Lafayette Manor gathered at the home of C. R. Turner and talked it over with Supervisor Jack Cummings.

Cummings, speaking of the Lafayette Manor flooding, said, "No county agency was provided to cope with the washout, but assistance could probably be obtained through the soil conservation service in conjunction with the WPA."

HE ADDED, "The erosion problem is of county-wide concern and something has to be done."

Cummings also commented on the charges that the St. Mary's College reservoir gates were opened during the flood.

He said, "The gates were not opened, according to Father Milligan.

"I saw the Father personally, and he told me he placed two boys on guard with instructions to keep the gates closed.

"TWICE they asked that the gates be opened, but the Father refused," Cummings said.

Others who attended the meeting said they knew the gates had not been opened.

Cummings added that the WPA is ready to install sidewalks and curbings for property owners, where the owners will pay for the materials.

The WPA will only work where a full block has been signed up for the work, however.

Factory Adjacent School Opposed

Opposition is forming in Lafayette against the County Board of Supervisors' approval of location of a factory next to the Acalanes High School site.

Keith Narbett, architect and County Planning Commission member, talked about the proposed factory at a Lafayette Breakfast Club meeting at King's Restaurant.

Narbett said this is one of the instances when the supervisors have discarded the recommendations of the planning commission.

He said the commission's job is to work out plans for proper locations of farms, schools and factories.

Home Building Will Establish Record--FHA

Home building activity in central Contra Costa County is racing through the holiday season without the usual seasonal lag, to establish a record for 1940 not reached in more than a decade.

The Northern California district office of the Federal Housing Administration reports that it will be geared to meet the demands of what is expected to be the most pretentious spring home building program in recent years.

FHA Administrator Abner H. Ferguson reported that with the cooperation of manufacturers and distributors of building materials, an ambitious campaign is being launched to more thoroughly acquaint families in lower income brackets with today's opportunity to acquire homes of their own.

The FHA program for 1941 will be directed primarily toward small low-priced homes which now can be bought for a few hundred dollars down and paid for on terms of less than a dollar a day.

Recorder Says Business Double

The business of the County Recorder's office has doubled in the last six years since 1934, it was announced.

Recorder Ralph Cunningham said that the heaviest volume of business has been in the spring.

Bids Sought For American Legion Hall

Bids are being accepted for construction of a new American Legion Hall on Mt. Diablo Boulevard, Lafayette.

Preliminary plans have been approved by the County Board of Supervisors, according to J. W. Hammond, Lafayette American Legion Post publicity chairman.

Estimated cost of the building is $14,000. Dirt excavated will be used as fill for the Acalanes High School project.

Supervisor Jack Cummings said that when completed the Legion building will be the most unique building of its kind in the county from the standpoint of usability, arrangement and beauty.

The American Legion two years ago appointed committees to study the proposed new building, under the leadership of Commander L. J. Coleman.

The building will follow a Spanish theme, with stucco finish and a tile roof.

Orinda Mothers Club to Meet at Country Club

The Orinda Mothers Club will meet Tuesday at the Orinda Country Club to hear Mrs. A. Phillipsborn of Berkeley talk on the relationship of the parent and adolescent.

The session is scheduled for the Country Club to insure adequate space and seating arrangements for the large audience expected to convene at 12:45 p.m.

Transportation to the meeting will be provided from Orinda Store.

Sanitary District for Central Area Would Serve 25,000 by 1960--Report

The Greater San Ramon Valley-Walnut Creek Chamber of Commerce members Monday heard a report on procedures for forming a sanitary district.

Morgan Stewart, sanitary engineer for the county health department, said a petition must be presented to the board of supervisors.

A recent survey made in 1938 has six plans which could be followed under the county sanitary act of 1923.

They would include costs of trunk lines and a sewage disposal plant.

Plan No. 1 includes Walnut Creek, Orinda, Lafayette, Concord, Moraga Estates and Pacheco.

Initial cost would be $700,000.

Estimates are that this size district would serve 15,000 people in 1940, and the total would jump to 25,000 people in 1960.

By 1980, the central area's total population may run as high as 40,000, the survey indicated.

The other five plans all concern a more limited local service for areas which indicate they are interested in joining the sanitary district.

Gerald Worthley, co-ordinator of the recently formed Castro Valley Sanitary District and Oro Lomas Sanitary District, said the new district should be formed due to health problems, because the WPA help now available will cut costs about 50 per cent.

He advised starting with a smaller area and annexing other areas as they show interest in joining.

Residents of the area will be invited to attend a future meeting, where the plans will be discussed.

Bomb Planter Is Out; $5250 Bail

Jack Frederick Joyslen, 50, of Walnut Creek is free on $5250 bail after pleading innocent Friday to a bomb plot extortion attempt on Aaron Simon of the Oakland Simon Hardware Store.

Oakland Municipal Judge C. Stanley Wood has set January 16 for a preliminary examination and granted a motion by defense attorney Don Campbell to reduce bail from $10,500 to $5250.

Joyslen was arrested last Wednesday and charged with attempted extortion for placing an explosive in the basement of the store. After placing the homemade bomb, he telephoned Simon, vice president of the Oakland store, and said the bomb would be detonated by radio control unless $10,000 was delivered to a specified location.

Joyslen lives at 135 Richard Lane, Walnut Creek, and is the owner of a manufacturing firm in Lafayette.

Alameda County showed an increase of only 1.6 per cent for the same comparison. Highest increase was 10 per cent in Mariposa County.

County Population Gains 110,046 In Past Decade

According to the San Francisco Bay Area Council, Contra Costa County's population increased 110,046 during the decade 1950-1960 for an average of 917 persons per month.

Net in-migration accounted for 36.9 per cent of the increase, or 40,640.

Natural increase accounted for 63.1 per cent of the increase, or 69,406.

Increasing at a rate of just under 8000 persons per month for the past ten years, today approximately one out of every four residents of the entire Bay Area has come here in the past decade, according to the council.

The area's population increased 957,617 between the 1950 and the 1960 Census, bringing the 1960 population to 3,638,939. This averages to 7980 new residents a month, or a city slightly smaller than Berkeley every year.

Over half of the increase, 53.6 per cent, or 513,084, was from net in-migration. The remaining 46.4 per cent, or 444,533, was from natural increase, the excess of births over deaths.

In Contra Costa County natural increase accounted for more than 60 per cent of the gain.

Committee Chairman Speaks Out

Gerry Cullen Always Has Time for Scout Groups

By LARRY GLAZIER

Thomas G. (Gerry) Cullen, a man who travels extensively but always manages to find time to devote to the Boy Scout movement, was named yesterday as Orinda's Man of the Year for 1960.

Cullen, 48, has lived in Orinda for 19 years, and was honored by the community in the last year of his residence here. He will move to a new home in Carmel Valley next spring or summer.

An energetic and dedicated Scout leader, Cullen looks on Orinda as "a wonderful community" and one which "deserves a lot of credit for having tolerated me."

HE SAID his family is moving to Carmel Valley in order to gain the experience of living in a new area. The Cullens purchased a lot in the valley "with nickels and dimes" and recently built a home on the property.

Presently the post advisor for Orinda Explorer Post 300, which boasts a membership of 36 boys, Cullen began his work in Scouting 13 years ago when he became a member of the Rotary Club of Richmond.

As he explains it, "One of the requirements of Rotary Club membership is to something for international or community service. While searching for a way to serve my community, Scouting came up. Since I love the outdoors and young boys, this was a natural."

TO MAKE the story even more interesting, Cullen's only son, eight-year-old Richard, wasn't even born when his father entered Scouting, and Cullen now is beginning his second go-round as an adult Scouter with Richard just becoming a Cub Scout.

Cullen and his wife, Jeanne, make their home at 21 Las Vegas Road, with Richard and two daughters, Carolyn, 17, a freshman at Monterey Peninsula Junior College, and Denise, 14, a freshman at Miramonte High School.

The Man of the Year had high praise for his wife's willingness to put up with week-end campouts with the Scouts following immediately on the heels of one of his two-week business trips.

A GRADUATE of the University of California in 1939 as a premed student, Cullen now operates his own corrosion engineering business in San Francisco. He pointed out that the start of the war preempted any hopes he had of ever going on to medical school.

Since the end of World War II, Cullen has operated the T. G. Cullen Company, which specializes in plastic coatings and cements for corrosion problems.

His firm's latest endeavor—the study of contamination as related to nuclear energy—brings him into contact with all nuclear facilities in the nation. Since starting his own business, Cullen has flown more than 300,000 on business trips.

AN EAGLE Scout himself, Cullen was born and raised in a small town near the Maine border, Frampton, Quebec, Canada. He first came to the United States in 1930, after completing the Canadian equivalent of high school.

Following some travel in the New York area, Cullen was determined to enter college. He selected Columbia University in New York City, but then had an opportunity to purchase an ice cream parlor with his last $250.

He did so, and entered Rutgers University in New Brunswick, New Jersey, at the same time. The urge to travel west moved Cullen in 1934, after he completed two years at Rutgers.

SETTLING IN San Francisco after trips throughout the West and to Mexico, the honoree entered Cal and went to work to assure that he would make it through school. His various jobs during this period included a handyman at a Chinese restaurant and rewrite man for the San Francisco Examiner.

One experience of his life which Cullen recalls with a mixture of gladness and sadness occurred on August 15, 1945—V-J Day. After failing unsuccessfully to gain entrance to the armed forces for a number of years because he was employed in strategic defense work, Cullen finally was being inducted at Fort Lewis, Washington, on that day.

While the induction ceremonies were going on, President Truman's proclamation ending the war was broadcast, and all married men over 26 years of age (including Cullen) were sent home.

GERRY'S FIRST experience in Scouting was an assistant Scoutmaster for an Orinda troop. He became Scoutmaster of Troop 207 a short time later, and remained in that post for eight years.

The last five years Cullen has held his Explorer post. He is also active in the Orinda Masonic Lodge, of which he served as head coach for many years.

"The groups to which I belong and the Boy Scout movement have done me more good than I've done them," Cullen said.

A MEMBER of the executive board of the Mt. Diablo Boy Scout Council, Cullen has served as a local and national official at the state Boy Scout Jamboree in Southern California and at the national Jamboree in Valley Forge, Pennsylvania.

He manages to plan an adventurous summer trip for his post each summer. The trips have taken the boys to Canada and the Colorado River area in recent years.

His wife is a leader in the local Girl Scout program and is secretary of the Orinda Park Pool.

PREPARING FOR THE March of Dimes are Orinda chairman Elmer E. Anderson, of the Wells Fargo Bank — American Trust Company branch; Mrs. Dan Lucas, Mothers' March chairman, left, and Barbara Van Sickle, treasurer and Mothers' March assistant.

Fledderman Says Civic Affairs Group in Danger

The chairman of the Orinda Association's civic affairs committee told the association's directors Wednesday night that the committee is threatening to fall apart unless it is delegated some responsibilities.

Harry Fledderman, who will hold the post until mid-January when the 1961 civic affairs chairman is selected, said, "You have to feed these people a heavier diet than a speech once a month by a civic leader."

HE TOLD the directors that the committee was reactivated during the last year by the advent of programs each month. He explained the average attendance at the meetings increased from 10 during January and February to 24 at the end of the year.

But, Fledderman went on in his annual report to the group, the committee, as it stands, has very little responsibility and there is a serious threat that it will become deactivated again.

It is not serving as the "lower house" for the association's board of directors, as its function is outlined in the group's by-laws, he explained. Its function this year has been mainly one of communication with Orinda residents, he stated.

ACCORDING to the association by-laws, the committee is composed of appointees of "such active organizations having as their primary purpose the welfare or improvement of the Orinda community or its residents as shall be designated from time to time by the board of directors."

The committee's function as outlined by the by-laws is as follows:

"To consider any civic problem relating to the Orinda area, such as schools, sewers, transportation, zoning, nuisances, accident prevention, etc., and to report to the board with requests, suggestions and recommendations."

Fledderman said there are two means by which the committee could be kept active. He said these are by recasting the committee's functions or by delegating to it some responsibilities.

OUTGOING President Victor Kingston said the attendance at civic affairs committee meetings has dropped off in recent years because there has not been a controversial issue in Orinda.

The group's new president, Bruce Howard, assured Fledderman that certain studies—one on the development of the civic center program in particular—will be designated to the committee during 1961.

Kingston also said that the question of whether the East Bay Municipal Utility District's reservoirs schould be opened to recreational uses should also be discussed by the committee during the next year.

Orinda Engineer Retires After Colorful Career

Herbert J. King, well known in the construction industry, has ended a 56-year engineering career spanning civilization's changes from the gaslight era to the present day star-lit satellites.

In retiring, the 74-year-old Orinda resident has left monuments to his work throughout the world.

The outstanding milestones of more than half a century include:

Construction of the famed eight-mile-long Great Northern Railroad's Cascade tunnel between Wenatchee and Everett, Washington, in three years. This hazardous 1926 mountainous undertaking cost 55 lives.

ERECTION of a cement mill at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, for the National Portland Cement Company.

Construction of tunnels in Southern California for the Los Angeles Metropolitan Water District.

Service with the First Light Artillery, Fourth Engineers from 1917-1919 in Europe during World War I under Colonel Raymond C. Wheeler, who in later years became Lieutenant General Wheeler, Chief of Engineers of the Army Corps of Engineers.

Actually, King has enjoyed a double career, one in private industry and the other in federal service.

"IT ISN'T often that a man starts a second career at 65," King said this week at the Army Engineers' retirement party at 180 New Montgomery Street, San Francisco. "And," he added, "my second career has been as satisfactory as the first."

In his "second career," King has been head of the negotiations section in the construction division of the Army Engineers in the San Francisco district.

King, who became an engineer years before present-day trade unions and eight-hour working days, is a protege of the late John F. Stevens, the chief engineer in construction of the Panama Canal. Stevens held a similar post with the Great Northern when the Orinda resident started working for the railroad in 1904 at the age of 14.

Born in Lake Forest, Ill., King in his "first career" has filled executive engineering posts with the railroad, the Los Angeles Metropolitan Water District, the National Portland Cement Company, A. Gutherie & Company of St. Paul, Minnesota, and L. E. Dickson & Company of San Gabriel, California.

HE AND HIS wife, who reside at 15 Santa Lucia Road in Orinda, are exceedingly proud of their four grown children, one of whom holds a Ph.D. degree and the other three M.A. degrees.

The daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Rempel, is a faculty member of the College of San Mataeo.

One son, William S. King, is an anthropologist on the University of Arizona faculty; a second son, James F. King, is the dean of graduate students at the University of California in Berkeley; and the son son, Thomas King, is a member of the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington.

Howard Is Association President

Bruce Howard, 621 Miner Road, was elected president of the new board of directors of the Orinda Association at the group's first meeting Wednesday night.

Howard, who served as vice president of the association during the past year, succeeds Victor Kingston in the post. Howard has served as president of the Contra Costa County Taxpayers' Association and was The Sun's Man of the Year selection committee chairman this year.

Other new officers elected by the board include Eric Nielsen, vice president; Arnold Anderson, secretary, and John Cheney, treasurer.

Nielsen and Anderson are two of the five new association directors who were seated Wednesday night. The others are Paul Fanning, David Edwards and James Keating. Holdover directors on the board are Howard, Cheney, Mrs. Robert Haslam and Charles Dana.

Directors attending their last meeting as members of the board included Kingston, Connie Hall, Philip Mittell and Les Hink Jr.

Howard said the directors would be notified within the next few weeks of a special meeting to be held during January. The purpose of the meeting will be to schedule the association's annual membership meeting.

Elks Plan Big New Year Event

Harold B. Turner, exalted ruler of Walnut Creek Elks Lodge No. 1811, has invited all brothers living in the community to attend the tenth annual New Year's Eve dancing party in the lodge rooms, 1475 Creekside Drive, Walnut Creek.

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. to music provided by Gordon Heche's orchestra.

Hats, noisemakers and balloons will be provided and a midnight buffet will be featured with catering provided by the Claremont Hotel.

THIS YEAR'S New Year's Eve celebration is under the direction of chairman "Lee" Dykstra and his dance committee members—Will Sears, Wally Roy, Bob Friedland and Ted Wilson, assisted by their wives, Mary, Rosemary, Christina, Betty and Gerry.

Reservations should be in the hands of Secretary H. C. Cherrington.

Cullen Selection Based on Strong Scout Leadership

Thomas G. (Gerry) Cullen was chosen as Orinda's Man of the Year for his continuous devotion to the Boy Scout program of the community, according to selection committee chairman, Bruce Howard.

Others serving on the committee were Mrs. Russell Gilwee and Mrs. Paul Pollaczek.

For approximately 10 years, the committee said, Gerry has been a leader in Boy Scout work, beginning with Troop 207 and later working with Post 300 of the Explorer Scouts.

EACH SUMMER has found him devoting his vacation time to the Scout camp, or, more recently, taking his Explorers on an adventuresome trip such as canoeing in the Canadian wilds or boating down the Colorado River.

Exemplary of the caliber of his guidance, the committee continued, was the program developed in conjunction with the Guide Dogs for the Blind organization.

Over a period of three years the Scouts earned sufficient money to provide a trained guide dog to a blind person. The Scout troop attended the ceremonies when the presentation was made.

Gerry has developed a high percentage of his boys to Eagle Scout rank, the Scout's highest accomplishment, and Explorer Post 300 is recognized as one of the finest groups in this part of the state.

SCOUTING circles have many times recognized Gerry's fine work by bestowing on him awards for leadership.

"Therefore," the committee said, "To a man who has dedicated himself to the young men of our community; through the development of leadership and a sense of responsibility, affording these young men the opportunity to learn many valuable practical lessons in life through scouting, we are pleased to make this recognition."

The development of young people makes a stronger community, the committee added. "Orinda is therefore deeply grateful for the splendid contribution made by Gerry Cullen."

THE COMMITTEE has announced that the following persons were considered for the honor:

Myrtle Patterson, director of the Orinda Nursery School.

Verla Krotz, been active in Republican circles.

Keven Merrick, Orinda Country Club tennis professional.

James Lewis, principal of Miramonte High School.

George Harrison, Olympics gold medal winner.

Dick Bartle, chairman of the planing committee, Orinda Association.

Victor Kingston, outgoing president, Orinda Asociation.

William Koch, Orinda fire marshal.

Phone Company Has New Place For Payments

Pacific Telephone has established a new payment agency for its Orinda subscribers.

According to local phone company manager H. C. Greenhalgh, starting Wednesday Orinda subscribers who wish to pay their phone bills in person may do so at the Central Valley National Bank at 21 Moraga Way.

He said that the Orinda Pharmacy, the former payment agency, will no longer handle phone bills.

Mail payments should continue to go to Pacific Telephone, P.O. Box 547, Walnut Creek.

Infants Baptized by Grandfather, Father

Amy Lynn Blossom and Sandra Lee Bishop were baptized in a Christmas Day service at the Orinda Community Church, 10 Irwin Way.

Officiating for Amy Lynn was her grandfather, Reverend Chauncey Blossom, minister of the Orinda church, and Sandra Lee was baptized by Reverend Walter Bishop, who is her father and the associate minister.

Amy Lynn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Peter Blossom of San Francisco.

Spanish Student Says 'Thank You'

Enrique A. Lopez-Bruno, Miramonte's foreign exchange student last year, now at home in Madrid, Spain, has written to The Sun to express his thanks to the community and to Miramonte High School.

Enrique lived with the T. K. Miles family during his stay here.

With 35 other students, he left Albany June 26, and traveled across the United States, departing from New York July 26. He is now studying at Madrid University.

Enrique included in his thanks "all the people who directly or indirectly have done something for me or for the American Field Service."

He continued, "I am sorry if I am not table to express in words all my feelings towards 'you' and the entire America, but I promise you that my stay in Orinda will always be something present in my mind and in my acts throughout my life."

He concluded by wishing the community a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, together with the A.F.S. in Spain.

Petty Thefts Again Hit Central County Region

Petty thefts again led the list of crime reports in the central county last week, according to the sheriff's office.

Two of the thefts were shoplifters at the Payless Drug Store, 2130 Contra Costa Highway, Pleasant Hill, Saturday, the officers said.

Deputies reported that the first shoplift occurred Saturday morning and involved two Pleasant Hill high school boys, ages 16 and 15, who took one can of paint from the store. They received juvenile citations.

THREE YOUNG boys were also cited by the sheriff's office for attempting to take more than $3 worth of articles from the store, officers said.

Dr. Robert Lee, 74 La Cresta, Orinda, reported that a four-wheel bicycle belonging to his sons was taken, probably as a prank, from the playground of the Orinda School Saturday afternoon.

A wallet containing a little money and important personal papers was stolen from a gym locker at San Ramon Valley High School Friday afternoon, Robert Brewer, 18, of 608 Bradford Place, Danville, told deputies. Bradford is a student at the University of California.

OFFICERS SAID Christmas tree ornaments were stolen from a display at the home of Dr. Irving Fine, 3177 Teigland Road, Pleasant Hill, Friday night. They reported the wires leading to the tree were cut by the thieves.

A goddess figure worth $50 was reported stolen from a display at Hi-Fashion Fabrics, 685 Hough Street, Lafayette, last week, according to the sheriff's office. Deputies said the figure is 27 inches high and weighs about 12 pounds.

Fourteen dollars' worth of Christmas presents were stolen from the auto of Paul M. Arrigo, 19, of 919 Anita Court, Lafayette, while the youth attended Christmas midnight Mass at St. Mary's College Saturday night, according to officers.

DEPUTIES said the lone burglary of the week occurred last Thursday night at a 24-hour self-service laundromat at 1870 Oak Park Boulevard, Pleasant Hill. Money was taken from various machines in the establishment, the officers reported.

And Farley's Restaurant, 1 Moraga Way, Orinda, reported that someone painted a line over the "L" in their sign, causing $25 damage.

Lafayette's Dr. Emelio Segre was the recipient this week of another high honor—he has been named one of Time Magazine's 15 Men of the Year.

Dr. Segre, who lives at 36 Crest Road, Lafayette, is the University of California nuclear physicist who was the 1959 Nobel Physics Prize winner for his discovery of the anti-proton.

TIME MAGAZINE annually selects the Man of the Year—the person whose imprint was most prominent in the year's events throughout the world.

The magazine's editors said that this year they selected the "15 brilliant American scientists" because they are exemplars of the scientists who are remaking man's world.

They reported further that they selected the 15 men—whose pictures appear on the color composite cover of the magazine—because the number embodies about the right inclusiveness and exclusiveness, and because "the heart of scientific inquiry now beats strongest in this country."

AT THE SAME time he was named the Nobel Prize winner a year ago, Dr. Segre, a 55-year-old native of Italy and a protege of the late Enrico Fermi, was selected to deliver UC's Charter Day speech.

Dr. Segre recently returned from Nigeria, where he was the Ford Foundation's representative to the African nation's independence ceremonies. His wife, Elfrieda, traveled to Nigeria with him, and also traveled to Stockholm with her famous husband a year ago to collect the Nobel Prize.

The Lafayette resident, whom Time calls "a master of pure theory," came to the United States in 1938 and worked on the Manhattan Project which resulted in this country's atomic bomb.

The magazine quotes Dr. Segre as saying, "When God made the universe—if you assume he did—is there any reason to believe he preferred matter to anti-matter?"

On the lighter side there is a selection of clever, dry-cleaned limericks from Bennett Cerf's new collection, illustrated by famous cartoonist Charles Saxon.

Then, Muriel Lederer, the mother of a grade-school youngster, investigates both the pros and cons of Educational Television, a seven-year-old wonder that may soon be part of the school-life of every American child.

Phone Call Does It; But More Roll In

Mrs. Leslie Petersen of Post Office Box 193, Lafayette, sold her studio couches the first day her want ad appeared in The Sun, and she had "numerous" calls in addition.

Mr. Cooper of 124 Montecito Lane, Walnut Creek, sold a Kenmore washer on the first call and many other calls rolled in after that.

The ad appears in the Sun Shopping News on Wednesday, and in each of the Walnut Creek Sun, Orinda Sun, Lafayette Sun and Pleasant Hill Sun on Friday—all for one price.

A 14-word ad costs only $1.60. You can place the ad by phone and pay later.

However, the ads will be taken on Tuesday morning until 10, the final deadline. Too late to classify deadline is 12 noon, Tuesday.

Actual Olympic B'lvd. Construction Needs Bond Issue

Purchase of Sacramento Northern Railroad right-of-way land for construction of Olympic Boulevard from central Lafayette through Sun Valley and Saranap to Walnut Creek is 50 per cent complete. But actual construction will probably wait on an overall county bond issue.

Victor Sauer, county public works director, said the county's immediate task of "protecting the right of way" has been underway for more than two years, but the process has been delayed by necessary title searches and other details.

Olympic Boulevard, when complete, would be a local east-west two-lane road, 4.5 to 6 miles long. It will be designed to carry families driving locally, local busses and other such traffic.

THE RIGHT of way purchases are being paid for from the county general fund and some $75,000 to $100,000 has been allocated.

The county wll pay only half of the total right-of-way costs, since both Pacific Gas and Electric Company and Central Sanitary District want to use the right-of-way for installation of their underground power facilities.

An agreement has been reached where PG&E and the sanitary district each will pay 25 per cent of land acquisition costs, and the county will pay the other 50 per cent.

But actual construction would cost about $50,000 per mile, by a very rough estimate, Sauer said. This might indicate, without any conclusive estimates available, that the entire job would cost more than $300,000.

OLYMPIC Boulevard is on the city-county thoroughfare plan, as outlined in the Tudor Report and studied periodically by the City-County Highway Advisory Committee and other groups.

If a county bond issue were proposed, it would come from the committee, which includes county and city engineers, county and city administrators and managers, planning groups from both levels, Sauer explained.

The bond issue, which would include provision for Olympic Boulevard, would cover a 10-year program for the entire county, designed to correct deficiencies in present roads and develop necessary new ones.

Twenty-five million dollars would be a possible figure, but this will depend on future deliberations which may take another year, Sauer continued. He added that this money, all except one or two per cent of it, would remain in the area, since services and equipments would be purchased in the county.

SAUER SAID that the present gas tax revenues, in lieu money, general fund are not sufficient to keep up with present road and highway deficiencies, and would not begin to handle a road improvement program for the entire county.

A 60-foot right of way is needed for Olympic Boulevard, as it is contemplated by the county.

But a wider right of way would be needed if future talks between Sauer and Bay Area Rapid Transit District Chief Engineer Keneth Hoover develop into a joint project. If so, the county's costs would not go higher.

The joint project possibility was suggested by Hoover last week at a meeting of the BARTD directors, who are trying to decide the routing for their transit tracks between Lafayette and Walnut Creek.

ALTERNATIVES are 1. along the state freeway. 2. along the Sacramento Northern tracks, which is the Olympic Boulevard route.

Hoover and other transit engineers obviously favor the Sacramento Northern route and have given many reasons for their preference. The directors will probably make their decision soon, since it was postponed last week.

A possible enhancement of the Sacramento Northern alternative might be the combining with Contra Costa's Olympic Boulevard project, with the transit track running along side or down the middle, Hoover suggested.

Directors told him to talk it over with Sauer.

SAUER TOLD The Sun that he and his engineers would take a ". . . careful, detailed look" at any such proposals by the transit district, from an engineering standpoint, and by consulting Chambers of Commerce, the areas concerned and property owners along the route.

He promised the "closest cooperation" with the transit district in study of the joint project.

The transit directors will meet again in San Francisco on January 12.

It is expected that Sauer and Hoover will have had their talk by them.

Heads Scout Member Drive

Major General William F. Dean has accepted the chairmanship of the "Special Enrollment" division of Mt. Diablo Council's Boy Scout sustaining membership enrollment, according to Admiral Grant Calhoun, council finance chairman.

General Dean, Korean War hero, has long been an admirer of the Boy Scout program, and has served for several years on the executive board of Mt. Diablo Council since his return from the Korean conflict, said Calhoun.

Kickoff of the "Special enrollment" was at last week's meeting when members of the executive committee, in response to General Dean's presentation, signed their pledge cards for 1961.

Throughout the Council area of Contra Costa County, Berkeley, and Albany, the special enrollment will be under way in January, to be followed by the general sustaining member effort in February.

STREET SWEEPING doesn't have to be a lonely job, especially if you have a dog who likes the work, too. Louis Santos, who operates a Walnut Creek sweeper, has a constant companion in "Bimbo", who rides atop the sweeper rain or shine.—Sun photo by Bob Rush.

Walnut Creek Street Sweeper Has 2 'Masters'

BY EDITH BRADY

For some people street sweeping in the wee hours of the morning might be a lonely job.

But it isn't for Louis Santos, who operates the sweeper for the City of Walnut Creek Department of Public Works. He has "Bimbo."

"Bimbo" is Santos' 5½-year-old, part Airedale, part Australian Shepherd dog.

"Bimbo," who is a constant companion to Santos, rides like a king atop the sweeper.

This has been "his place" for four years through sun and storm in summer and winter.

For a while last summer "Bimbo" rode inside the cab, Santos said. But the heat was too much for him, so Santos put him out in front of the windshield.

And now, even though the winters get pretty cold, he won't go back inside.

Santos said that the dog "thinks he owns the sweeper." He thinks he is its "protector," and if anyone comes too close "Bimbo" just might "nip you," he said.

When it is time to go home, "Bimbo" doesn't mind. He goes right along with Santos because he knows he will be back in "his place" again tomorrow.

Santos, who lives at 1716 San Miguel, Walnut Creek, has had "Bimbo" since the dog was six months old.

Santos has been operating the sweeper for Walnut Creek for 29 years.

Parker Is Boy Scout Drive Fund Chairman

King Parker Jr., local business executive, has been selected as chairman of the Finance Committee, Meridian District, Boy Scouts of America, according to Tom Clarke, chairman of Meridian District.

Parker has served Scouting for 17 years in many capacities. He is at present a member of the National Council.

Parker will head the Sustaining Membership Enrollment Drive of the Meridian District, which will begin the first week of February.

Paul Tickner has been selected as vice-chairman and chairman of Special Enrollments Committee.

Peter Mattei is chairman of Sustaining Membership Unit Enrollments. Final phases of the drive will be outlined at a meeting Wednesday night.

Martinez Roundup

Federal Subsidy Sought Without Staff Increase

Contra Costa County Supervisors rejected on Tuesday the proposal of Civil Defense Director Will H. Perry Jr. that he be given two more workers to qualify for a $21,686 federal subsidy.

The increase in staff would have added $5489 to his budget, but the federal contribution would reduce the county's 1960-61 outlay for civil defense by $16,197, Perry said.

HOWEVER, the board did adopt the position of County Administrator J. P. McBrien that Contra Costa County has been among the leaders in the state's civil defense organization and is probably entitled to federal assistance without staff additions.

The offered subsidy does not require staff additions, Perry explained, only that the funds will result in increased civil defense activities.

In other business the supervisors abolished six more citizens committees, bringing the total of such groups to be eliminated to 18.

Abolished yesterday as having completed their assignment were committees on census tracts, coddling moth spray ordinance, Port Costa street lighting, county tax rates, county services to municipalities and cost sharing of highway construction with abutting property owners.

COUNTY Administrator J. P. McBrien began the review of 60 committees when he discovered many had finished their assignment, some had never met and others could not meet because their membership had been depleted with time.

The supervisors, in additional action, authorized waterproofing of the exterior of the 30-year-old Hall of Records in Martinez at an estimated cost of $20,000.

Welcome to '61's first

Prizes Await 1961's First Baby in Orinda, Moraga

If you're planning to have a baby within the next few days there is a galaxy of prizes awaiting him or her—and Mother, too—if the new arrival is the first child born in this area in 1961.

Orinda merchants have joined in assembling Prince and Princess-size bundles of gifts with which to welcome the first addition to the census count of this community for the New Year.

He or she, of course, will be much more than a numerical figure to the storekeepers who plan such a warm homecoming party.

THE FIRST baby of 1961 will, to them, symbolize all the little ones who, during 1961, will be born to parents residing in Orinda, Moraga or Canyon.

But there will be so many of them that it would be impossible for local stores to give each one an individual gift.

Only one infant—the First Baby of 1961—will be the lucky one. He or she may be born 30 seconds after the New Year makes its appearance, or a week or more later.

There just isn't any way of scouting for information or of knowing what the competition is going to do.

CONTEST rules and the specific items and services to be presented to the First Baby of 1961 appear in this issue.

Among the merchants participating in the event are the Sporthaus, Country Club Togs, Orinda Pixie Shop, Village Shoe Shop, Feminine Fancies, Heaven to Eleven, Black's Market, Central Valley National Bank and Orinda Hardware.

To be sure that everyone understands the rules before the starter's gun sounds, here are the simple regulations to be followed:

1. The winning baby must be born to parents residing in Orinda, Moraga or Canyon.
2. Before prizes are awarded, it will be necessary for parents to deliver a written statement by their physician specifying the exact time of birth.
3. If you think you have a winner, immediately phone all pertinent information to The Sun, YE 4-5000, AT 4-4444 or CL 4-4343.
4. In the event of a tie, prizes will be awarded at the discretion of the committee.
5. Prizes must be picked up by the winner before March 1, 1961.

Travelers—Ellen Goldberg made a jaunt to Japan for Christmas; Tina Cole made it to L. A.; Barb Palatino made the rounds of Ft. Ord while visiting with Steve; Cathy Cline has been traveling over the home grounds with her friend from Stanford.

Dick Allen, Kathy Stafford, Don White and Jan Miller spent the first part of the holidays at Dick's ranch. Keith Thrailkill, Steve at Suaw Valley. Meanwhile Karen was at home planning a tea for Smith, Vic Clark and Phil Stevens have enjoyed their week of skiing all the girls of the senior class. Johnny Walker is now playing the part of Joe Ski on the slopes of the wild and wooley north country.

Extras—Nelle Palatino and Carol Pedersen are celebrating the relief of all teeth problems: No more bands or wisdom teeth! Sue Kronke, Cory Lowther and Barb Bagley visited Santa Claus at Capwell's in Oakland. Received your colored pictures yet, kiddies?

Other toddlers to see Santa were Susan Cox and Carol Pedersen, who received free coloring books from Santa along with colored pictures. Mimi Case and Jim Messner made uite a hit when they attended the Senior Sweetheart Ball at Richmond High. A new acquaintance arises from the Eunoias and Bobbies joint, we believe his name is Bob Fisher, right, Carolyn?

Cherie Sharp has been spending the holidays at Sun Valley, Idaho, and enjoying every minute of it, too. Kay and Sue Fernsten are enjoying the last part of the vacation at Heavenly Valley sking. How does all that new ski equipment work, Sue? Sherry Croci spent Christmas at her cousins in Marin County while Susan Cox visited in San Mateo.

HAPPY NEW YEAR, GANG!!

The Battle Goes on, But Where Are We Getting?

The battle of rapid transit goes on.

And with it, goes the battle of routing—in our area, especially the battle of Olympic Boulevard vs. the Freeway.

As you are surely aware by now, this refers to the routing of the Bay Area Rapid Transit Lines between Lafayette and Walnut Creek — although actually it is THROUGH Lafayette and well into Walnut Creek. And it affects the people who live in Sun Valley and Saranap vitally.

CERTAINLY there are many factors to consider when discussing the routing of rapid transit facilities. The engineering, taking into account the sweep of curves, and the distances of comparable routes, cannot be ignored.

But neither can the value of a community.

A freeway, in spite of the invaluable service it renders, does cut a swath through the center of a community. And it leaves a scar.

A rapid transit line would, in effect, do the same thing. And it seems poor planning to scar our beautiful communities more than necessary.

Naturally, we are again urging the use of Highway 24—Mount Diablo Boulevard Freeway—for the routing of the rapid transit system.

IT ALSO SEEMS, at this point, questionable as to the value of building a four lane freeway on the old Sacramento Northern right of way—what has been named Olympic Boulevard. It nearly parallels Highway 24, and it would appear that some long range investigation should be made as to the ultimate necessity for this road. If there is none, then there certainly is no "saving" in incorporating rapid transit facilities on the "road."

It is generally good planning to consolidate your public utilities—that is, for example, to run the rapid transit facilities along side of, or down the center of, the existing freeway. This disturbs less "new" land, does not remove much additional land from the public tax rolls, and consolidates transportation services.

WE ARE TOLD that it will cost an additional $1,863,000 to build the transit facilities along the freeway rather than following the Olympic Boulevard route.

But that is better than the original $3 million estimate.

And perhaps it is cheaper, in the long run, than the depreciation of our communities which would occur from building two "transit" system through them—one carrying trains, the other, existing, carrying automobiles.

All these questions must be answered before a transit system, which we badly need, can be constructed.

And they must be answered to the satisfaction of the people, because the tremendous bond issue that is going to be required will never be passed if the people are not satisfied with the merits of the program.

Would One Super District Be More Economical...?

It should be obvious to anybody who is a taxpayer that there is waste and duplication of the efforts of many of the special districts which give us our services.

Even if you live in an incorporated city, and most of us don't, you still receive services from fire districts, sanitary districts, mosquito control districts, flood control districts, and a host of others.

A new proposal is in the offing on a state-wide basis, and it offers considerable interest to us.

GOVERNOR BROWN has given "substantial" approval to recommendations for the creation of large multi-purpose districts to handle area-wide services.

The program would call for expansion and consolidation of cities, and for formation of district governments to have area-wide control of air pollution, water supply, sewage disposal, transportation, parks, law enforcement, fire protection, urban renewal and civil defense.

We can see some immediate advantages to such an effort. For one example, regional park planning would be much simpler, and the coordinated efforts of Alameda and Contra Costa Counties could be made to produce the best for our expanding population.

Similarly, we can see where economies might be produced through the consolidation of some of the agencies which are now offering similar but separate services.

It is also suggested that an immediate change in annexation laws be made so that residents of both the annexing territory and that proposed for annexation may vote, with the majority to decide, whereas at present the decision is made only by the voters in the area to be annexed.

The metropolitan service plan calls for legislation permitting the establishment of a "multi-purpose" district by majority vote in any given area, and requiring the proposal of such a district by 1964.

The district would be ruled by a council selected by the governing bodies of the cities and counties included, would have taxing and bonding powers, and would have power to carry on comprehensive metropolitan planning and other area-wide functions delegated to it.

Obviously these proposals, although in the early stages, are significant to us.

WE CAN SEE possible problems, and also benefits. As to the former . . . well, it is a lot easier to appear before the local sanitary district board and register a complaint than it would be to travel to Berkeley, for example, to attend the board meeting of a super district, which would likely have a crowded agenda.

But on the other hand, it is quite possible that there could be economic benefit . . . that is, a reduction in taxes.

It is too early to tell, yet, but these proposals are well worth watching. They could mean a lot to us.

Happy New Year Hopes..

By LARRY GLAZIER

At this time of year it's traditional in the newspaper "game" to look back and ponder what news stories—spot and lasting—the last 12 months have produced.

During 1960, the beginning of another dynamic decade, it became apparent to all residents of Contra Costa County that our area is in the midst of what may be its most severe growing pains in history.

The year's news stories reflected this fact—from further attempts to annex or incorporate Pleasant Hill to exactly what to do with Bay Area Rapid Transit.

BECAUSE THE county is suffering from growing pains it is not enough for newsmen, or any other citizens, for that matter, just to look back.

A recapitulation of the most important events during 1960 should serve only to indicate to Contra Costans what work needs to be done during 1961 and 1962 and the succeeding years. The work which was done this year can best serve as the launching pad for the real solutions to the problems ahead.

Let's take a look at some of the problems which made county news during the year:

Pleasant Hill, a rambling, vibrant community of more than 20,000 residents, was recognized only as a small infant 10 short years ago.

TODAY, THE community is fought over by the cities of Concord and Walnut Creek and some of its residents wish to maintain their independence forever by incorporating. Growth here may bring an answer to the problem in the next few years.

Lafayette, another residential community whose attempts at incorporation failed 14 months ago, bounced back during 1960 and obtained for its main street a planted divider strip and the nation's smallest county park.

But, in the year that begins next week, Lafayette has hopes of doing even more—in the form of street lights and other services for the downtown area and a master plan for future beautification.

The population growth of the entire area has caused the East Bay Municipal Utility District to begin construction on its largest terminal reservoir—Briones—north of Orinda and Lafayette.

BRIONES RESERVOIR, however, is causing the relocation of a road, and this presented us with an honest-to-goodness "road hassle," the last of which still has not been heard. During 1961, the county will have to make some decision on the relocation of Bear Creek Road.

And so it goes, lots of work done during the year which is drawing to an end, but most of it just groundwork for the efforts which lie ahead.

Where and how the Bay Area Rapid Transit District will traverse our county, precise zoning for the Moraga area and unification of the Acalanes Union High School District area made news in 1960 and are sure to keep doing so next year.

This weekend, however, provides the annual opportunity for residents everywhere to congratulate themselves on having successfully completed another calendar year and to wish each other the best of everything for the coming year.

While doing so, keep in mind that we all must be here in 1961 to accomplish our goals. Don't drink and drive—and have a HAPPY NEW YEAR!

The piper must be paid

We Like It Here . . .

Time for All Good Men To Come to the Aid of--

By MARIE MONAHAN

THERE comes a time in the midst of this season—

When just because Christmas is over & you're near collapse should be enough reason—

To stay home & enjoy it, the toys, girl & boy bit, to sit around & relax with your egg nog & snacks—

BUT HOME, Sweet Home & Peace On Earth suffers—for there is no dearth of invites bidding you to come—

To see the tree, to Open House—

To have a Spree—or just to share a Buttered Rum . . .

R.S.V.Please!

No Sir, Dear Sir, there's not a chance on earth that you can stroll around your own split-level or loll around your hearth.

For Invitations, by the score, in they pour,

By phone, by mail, they come galore. (Some you simply CAN'T ignore!)

Folks deck their halls, their wall-to-walls.

Then they hail you—"Come," they say, "we will wassail you!

Don ye now your gay apparel. Join with us, we'll have a barrel!

Time to sing of Auld Lang Syne" . . .

But sing with WHOM? Your friends or mine!)

"Do drop in, just a cozy party," translated means, our guests are Arty!

Five to Seven, Come at eight. Circle calendar, date by date.

For all of us, the common fate—dragging around a dead-tired mate!

STOKE YOURSELF with soup, My Dear, for you'll be plied with too much cheer.

Set a smile upon your face, then hold it there all evening long lest someone think there's something wrong.

THE HOSTESS you will never see.

The host is busier than can be.

Instead of meeting friends so Auld, you'll be greeting strangers bold who've had too much of yuley spirit & want the whole wide world to hear it!

You wander through the piney greens, with faces you have never seen.

Your drink is warm, your tootsies tired. You wonder how this all transpired.

Your nose is shiny, brow perspired, but smile, say "Cheese," you're being admired!

VISIONS of home dance 'round in your head . . . there's that new book you could be reading in bed . . . or writing back East those New Year wishes . . . The children, are they squabbling? . . . & there STILL are the dishes!

After a final look around, no host & hostess to be found, you feel like a nonentity & hope that no one discovers your identity as you sneak quietly towards the door—

When who comes sailing across the floor but the hostess . . .

"Do you HAVE to leave so soon?" she flutters . . . "Yes, it's been, uh, since, uh, June," the weary, bleary host stutters . . .

Someone totters on the brink & Ooopsy-daisy goes a drink, right down the front of your new silk dress—

But smile, Milady, despite The Mess!

Both of you with energy sapping, relieved to get away from the yakking & yapping, decide this being the Season for all good men & their ladies too, To do to others as they do to you—

Both agree, the only R.S.V.P. that's a solution is—

A New Year's resolution—

That next year you will host & hostess a continuous Open House, remember—

"AT Home," December 1 & there remaining through 31 December!

Happy New Year!

Letters to The Editor

MOVIES

Dear Editor:

Concerning your December 9, 1960, article on "Good Movies for Young Children and Teen Agers":

Seven years ago we joined PTA. Frankly we viewed it with a jaundiced eye, thinking the members a bunch of pious "pink-tea-party" characters!

But our son was attending school and we made up our minds to find out about curriculum and figured the PTA would be a shortcut.

It was!

Not only that, but we found that the other parents were ordinary normal, interested people, concerned with child welfare and education.

I FOUND belonging to a national organization was a great asset. Many people of renown write for the Parent Teacher publications and we readers benefit by their experience.

The most valuable publications are the state and national parent-teacher magazines, for they help not only the neophyte "Kindergarten parent" but parents and grandparents of children of every age.

The articles are not trite nor sugar-coated! Often they are so blunt as to be shocking, concerning pornography, movies, teen-age marriages, etc.

IT IS GOOD to read of these BEFORE our children reach a certain age so we are prepared to handle problems with forethought and dignity.

Movies? We are as bewildered as a mouse in a cheese factory over strange titles and weird "come on" advertising. We have neither time nor energy to sit through the average tripe ground out, not only by Hollywood, but other countries.

How on earth, then, can we sanction WHAT movies are acceptable?

The state and national parent teacher magazines have a staff of patient, un-fuddy duddy, forthright people who pull no punches when telling us when a movie is definitely unacceptable.

YET WHEN one is fit for family viewing they tell you in a most intriguing "make-you-want-to-see-it" manner.

Why burden your newspaper with a job of sitting through movies when a staff of interested people are already doing it for you?

Merely subscribe to the Parent-Teacher magazine. Near the back cover (if movies are all that interest you) is a complete home guide for you, monthly, at a cost of less than 13 cents an issue.

CHARITIES

Dear Editor:

I just read Mrs. Roy W. Tess' letter to you regarding the inverse relationship between the number of cases and the amount of money contributed to various charities.

As past president of the Central Contra Costa Mental Health Association and past chairman of its yearly Christmas project for the mentally ill, I have been distressed by the same inverse relationship. Here are the figures:

Seventeen hundred men in three veterans' hospitals in Oakland, goal in 1959 $24,500, goal reached $23,508.

Four thousand three hundred twenty-eight patients in three state hospitals serving Contra Costa County, no goal announced, funds received $29.74.

Perhaps we can hope that time will bring a change. After all, the Veteran Hospitals' Christmas Committee has worked diligently for 35 years while in our local mental health group we will conduct the Fifth Annual Christmas Project for 1960.

I agree with Mrs. Tess that articles by The Sun on mental health—our nation's No. 1 health problem—would be a great service in public education.

Here Is a Pocketfull Of Notes and Stuff . . .

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

It may be a bit late for this year but here's a gift idea for adults as well as older kids: Adult Games by the Avalon Hill Co. The kids and I have been lounging all over the floor, hours at a time, playing "Gettysburg" and "Management." These and Avalon's other games are really challenging, requiring skill and intelligence. They are fun.

MORE CHRISTMAS NOTES: Best weather over the holiday was in Oakland-Berkeley. They were sunny-bright, while San Francisco joined our town as cloudy-dull . . . But bright were the outdoor lights at night that decorate so many of your homes . . . We are probably the only family in town to take back our Christmas tree to the lot from which we purchased it. No, not for a refund but to add it to their big bonfire.

Christmas all year?

Wouldn't it be nice if we were as cheerful and courteous and considerate to other people all year around—as we are at Christmas time?

This year I thought of the thousands of starving, shelterless children and adults I saw in Korea and Hong Kong. It isn't much but Daughter Janet and I have a "Care" package plan that we are following. It was her idea. For some time, she's been sending $1 or $2 Care packages from her allowance and recently I joined in. It's easy—Care, o/o Your local postoffice.

STILL ABOUT CHRISTMAS: Do you enjoy the picture of a family on a greeting card as much as I do?

And to your left is . . .

ANOTHER QUESTION: Have you taken a "tourist tour" of San Francisco recently? Our family had not until two weeks ago when we "guided" our visiting guest, 14-year-old Edmundo Garza, from Mexico City. It was really fun and we hadn't realized how long it has been since seeing Coit Tower, the Aquarium, Japanese Tea Garden, etc. Sunset magazine this month has some notes on a winter visit to Sutro's at the S.F. Beach. You also read about this fascinating place several years ago in this column.

Two results of our S.F. expeditions: two traffic tickets. One for parking and another for an illegal left-hand turn from a one-way street, according to the courteous officer who gave it to me.

Have you explored Sausalito lately? It's also fun.

Two fast reviews of S.F. stage productions: Monday night saw Michael Flanders and Don Swann in "At the Drop of a Hat" at the Alcazar. These two Englishmen present two hours of odd songs, monologues and English humor—all by themselves. The audience was receptive. There certainly were some very bright and funny spots and no really dull ones. What I'm trying to say is the production is worth a B minus—unless you are particularly fond of English humor in a two-man show.

What do you think?

"JB" is at the Curran—or is it the Geary? This was most disappointing, although it certainly is thought-provoking and different. If you see "JB," I'd like to hear your reaction.

Here's a slip of paper with the words "Geographic" and "strudel." Oh, yes, my vote for the best travel magazine is the "National Geographic." Any suggestions?

And if you like apple strudel try some frozen by Pepperidge Farms—or something like that.

A story with a moral but am not certain what it is: a young teenager had saved about $500 in the bank. His father some weeks ago asked the boy if he would like to invest it in Am. Tel and Tel stock, which had just dropped to about 89. The boy agreed.

You might guess the ending—the father forgot to do so, the stock shot up to 104 or so—and the boy is unhappy with papa. Can you figure the moral?

Do you like pancakes?

When is someone going to open one of those fancy pancake parlors in the area?

The Sun doffs its hat to our Man of the Year committee, which has worked so hard again this year. These people take time during this very busy season to meet, talk, consider and meet again. Thank you.

And from all of us to you: A happy new year.

He Still Needs Your Help!

Green, White Theme Prevails at Wedding

White poinsettias decorated the altar of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church for the wedding of Elsie Ann Bauer and Wallace Addison Marsh Jr. on December 17.

Father C. Corwin Calavan officiated at the candlelight ceremony in which the bride was given in marriage by her father, Fred W. Bauer Sr.

She wore a gown of white peau de soie with fitted bodice which was appliqued with alencon lace. The scallops of the lace neckline were repeated on the fitted three quarter length sleeves. Appliqued lace panels continued below the dropped waistline onto a bouffant skirt with chapel train. A small pearl crown held the bride's illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Judie Bauer was the maid of honor. Penelope Marsh and Elizabeth Evans were bridesmaids, with Deborah Marsh serving as flower girl. The bridal attendants wore identical emerald green satin sheath dresses with matching veil hats which were held in place by circlets of emerald green velvet.

The bridal attendants carried bouquets in the shape of crosses which were fashioned from pine Christmas greens and white carnations. The flower girl wore white nylon organdy fashioned with a full skirt and an emerald green satin sash. She carried a nosegay of white carnations.

The bride's mother wore a costume suit of peacock blue satin with short waist length jacket and three quarter sleeves. Her veil hat of velvet and iridescent leaves matched her suit. She wore a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Marsh Sr. wore a sheath dress of pale green brocade with three quarter length sleeves. Her flower and veil hat was of pale green and she wore a white orchid corsage.

John F. Lamberth of Orinda was the best man. Richard MacDonnell, Fred W. Bauer Jr. and John C. Shaw seated the guests.

The Lanai Room of the Claremont Hotel was decorated in a Christmas theme for the reception which followed the Orinda wedding. After a honeymoon skiing at Squaw Valley, the couple will make their home in San Francisco.

Linda Nickerson Becomes Bride

Linda Louise Nickerson became the bride of David William Stuart in ceremonies conducted by the Reverend W. Carl Thomas on December 17 at Lafayette Orinda Presbyterian Church.

Given in marriage by her father, Clarence A. Nickerson, the bride wore a street length gown of white organza over white taffeta with a wide hem enhanced with embroidery at the hem line.

A circlet of flowers held her white illusion elbow length veil. She carried a nosegay of white orchids and stephanotis, with white orchid removable corsage which she wore on her going-away costume.

Lynne Henrietta of Lafayette was the maid of honor. Marshall Estrada of Whittier was the best man. Serving as ushers were Larry Berlin and Robert Nickerson, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Nickerson wore a gown of champagne and gold brocade and the groom's mother was gowned in violet blue embroidered silk. A reception followed the wedding, held at the bride's parents' Orinda home, 61 Hillcrest Drive, Orinda.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bolger of Whittier and will be a June graduate from San Jose State College. The justweds will live in San Jose until after his graduation.

The Frank Bradford Family Extends its Feelings Across the Sea

By JEAN JERNIGAN

There's a touch of the Orient in the Frank H. Bradford home at 112 Gordon Road, Walnut Creek, this year and its a touch that's bringing happiness to Dr. and Mrs. Bradford and their daughter, Becky.

The "touch" is a delightful young lady from Japan, Hideko Tanai, who is the Bradford's AFS "daughter" this year.

"We met Heidi, as we call her, in Seattle on August 13," Mrs. Bradford recalled. "It's been a joy to have her with us. Our own daughter, Becky, had hoped to be an AFS student last year, but at the time they were only considering boys. She asked if we would apply for an exchange student and we are very happy that we did."

Heidi is fortunate to have the Bradfords as a foster family. Both Dr. and Mrs. Bradford are educators and even more important, both are successful parents.

Dr. Bradford earned his doctorate at Stanford University and Mrs. Bradford has an A.B. degree from Arizona State. The Bradfords met when both were in high school and were married after they both finished college. They have lived in this area for seven years.

CAPABLE DIRECTOR of Administrative Services for Contra Costa County Schools, Dr. Bradford is also adept at cutting a square and is known as an expert caller.

An elder in the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church, he shares his abilities with the community. "We're both so busy," Mrs. Bradford remarked, "that there's not much time for personal projects. However, Dr. Bradford enjoys puttering around the house, square dancing, and we are Captains of a Ship for the Schooner Club at church."

Dr. Bradford is a Mason, and a member of the Martinez Rotary Club.

MRS. BRADFORD taught school for years, but is now school district librarian. Working with children's literature is most rewarding," she said. "I am very happy to be working in this media now.

Now in her third year as librarian, Mrs. Bradford keeps mightly busy "running my home and the libraries." She is a member of the AAUW, and is also a student herself again. She is taking courses in library work at night school.

LIKE MOST mothers, however capable in their profession, Mrs. Bradford's first love is her family and children. With two daughters now at Las Lomas, her free time is usually spent in helping them with their activities.

The Bradford's son, Robert Franklin, 22, was married recently and is now on duty with the army in Germany. Christmas was lonesome without him this year. Interviewed before Christmas, Mrs. Bradford said of his absence, "It just breaks our hearts, he always played Santa Claus."

Becky, the Bradford's daughter, is 17 and a senior at Las Lomas where she is student body vice president, a Flag girl and a leader in many student activities.

SHE WAS Fellowship chairman at church, but her work as class treasurer in addition to many other activities made it necessary for her to resign. "Becky would like to attend Stanford or College of the Pacific," her mother said. "She is contemplating becoming a child consultant or a clothing designer."

"Becky makes all her own clothes, she started in the eighth grade. She has made lots of clothes for her Japanese "sister" and made all of our clothes for my son's wedding."

A MEMBER of Rainbow Assembly 15, Becky also belongs to a branch of the Children's Hospital of the East Bay. Together, Becky and Heidi made a miniature tree for the recent Festival of Trees to benefit the hospital.

A prizewinner, the tree was beautiful and unusual. "Heidi knows Japanese paper folding," Mrs. Bradford said, "and together the girls made delicate and lovely little cranes which were suspended from the branches."

"HEIDI JUST adores everything about our holiday season," Mrs. Bradford continued, "everything is so different." Heidi's real father is a medical doctor and among those chosen to make a world tour. "He will be here May Day," Mrs. Bradford explained, "and we are all just thrilled!"

Heidi has been invited to stop in Hawaii on her return to Japan by friends of the Bradfords. The AFS has given her permission, but Mrs. Bradford is concerned because Heidi will need $150 in order to do this.

"It would be a wonderful experience for her," Mrs. Bradford remarked, "and excellent for international relations to have her in Hawaii for a while. We are hoping that some service club will underwrite the trip. It would be a wonderful thing for some organization to do."

STARTING IN January, Heidi will be permitted to speak before various groups and organizations. She has already received several such invitations, and the Bradfords hope that one of these groups will help finance the Hawaiian trip.

Local Buds Add Glitter To CH Gala Winter Ball

By MARIE MONAHAN

All that glittered was not gold or Christmas last Thursday at the Claremont Hotel when 25 Bay Area buds bowed to society at the third annual Winter Ball.

The posh package, presented at the height of the holiday season and sponsored by Hill Branch for the benefit of Children's Hospital of the East Bay, took over the entire hotel with some 1200 guests gathered to admire and congratulate the debutante daughters of 1960.

The daily society scribes have used up all the superlatives describing the current crop of buds, but suffice to say, it was all true, even more so. The bevy of beautiful young women in their bouffant white flowing dresses looked like veritable angels atop a Christmas tree.

THE FIVE BUDS from Contra Costa County making their curtsies at the festive affair were Sylvia Bain Bolman, daughter of the Robert H. Bolmans of Orinda; Joan Alice Borden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Borden of Orinda; Deborah Marie Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie C. Smith of Orinda; Cecilia McGuire, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McGuire of Lafayette, and Vicki Sexson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sexson of Lafayette, all of them beautifully regal in their voluminous gowns worn with elbow-length white kid gloves.

For the presentation they carried bouquets of cerise and white carnations surrounded by pink tulle and baby ivy and all appeared relaxed and bandbox fresh for the formal bowing even after a busy evening of receiving congratulations, last-minute instructions, picture-posing and dinner in the Grecian Room.

THE FORMAL presentation to society started at 10:30 in the Garden Room when each young lady, a portrait of grace and poise in her pristine white gown, made her entrance on the black-curtained stage. Captain Edward Staffanides announced the name of each debutante who then was presented by her father with whom she waltzed the length of the promenade to the strains of Ray Hackett's music.

Following the traditional formalities, the cotillion members and their escorts were greeted and felicitated by their many friends and family members . . . A gay animated group around the Robert Bolmans. Edith Bolman, mother of deb Sylvia, chose a frock of burgundy red with matching satin slippers and bag for her daughter's debut.

While the debutantes did the scene-stealing, the women guests provided a complimentary background in gowns of a myriad colors, sparkling like delicate ornaments on the Christmas tree . . . A shimmering chiffon dress blazing brilliants on its brief straps was worn by Vivian (Mrs. Pierce) Milton of Happy Valley, who with her husband Pierce was glimpsed in a group out on the Garden Room terrace with the Richard Wards of Lafayette.

A FESTIVE FROCK of emerald green satin on Marian (Mrs. Kendric) Morrish of Orinda . . . Slim straps topping the chic black sheath that Ramona (Mrs. James) MacDonald of Orinda was wearing . . . Dr. and Mrs. John Gompertz dining pre-midnight in the Gold Room, Margaret's Christmasy cardinal-red gown shouldering white orchids . . . The Gompertz's daughter Jody, who made her curtsy in 1958, wending her way through the merry crowd wearing a white organza skirt bodiced in black velvet . . . Jody joined another 1958 deb, Stephanie Jensen, to hostess a pre-ball dinner for the 1958 debs at the Charles Hill, Orinda home of the latter's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Jensen.

FOYER GLIMPSES . . . The Ben Holabirds, the Marshall Shapiros of Orinda . . . More Orindans, Ed and Marie Mannon, whose whirlwind day had included the Virginia Warren-John Daly nuptials in San Francisco . . . Tall John Knox Jr. (he served as a member of the floor committee) going in to dinner with his parents, the senior John Knoxes . . . The Arthur Scheus of Happy Valley looking very distinguished on the dance floor.

CROWDS OF HANDSOME young people, home for the holidays, holding reunions in all corners of the lobby . . . Ushers Paul Ditzler of Alamo, Peter Frazier of Orinda and Gary G. Scott of Danville sporting the traditional red satin ribbons in their tux lapels . . . Sam Hubbard, son of Mrs. Donn M. Norman of Lafayette, escorting bud Lilia Marie Johnson . . . Edgar D. Kaiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Kaiser of Lafayette, beauing bud Diana Gay Meek, and on the arm of Robert Kerner Shurtleff, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Shurtleff of Orinda, was Orinda deb Deborah Smith.

THE YOUNGER SET (and some of the older ones, too) kicking up their fancy heels to the popular and loud Dixieland beat played by Jack Seltenrich and Band in the Horizon Room.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fee, the George M. Greenwoods of Moraga, the junior E. F. Cardins, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Samson, the James Sharps of Orinda more localites from the sponsors-ranks in the festive throng at the Winter Ball that by now has become big news and as much a traditional highlight of the glittering holiday season as its sister balls throughout the country.

Prospective Students Honored

Prospective Mills College students from Concord, Lafayette, Walnut Creek and Danville areas were honored on Wednesday morning at a post-Christmas party.

Mrs. Blaker Herod, student referral chairman of the Mt. Diablo Mills College Club, was hostess at her home, 135 Pleasant Valley Drive, Walnut Creek.

She was assisted by Mrs. Francis Murphy, also of Walnut Creek.

Judy Lamont, who is from Concord and a junior at Mills, is student representative for the student referral committee. She was in charge of asking other Mills students who live in the area to act as hostesses.

Each hostess discussed a particular topic concerning life on the Mills campus.

Duplicate Bridge Classes Planned By Sierra Guild

Sierra Guild of the John Muir Memorial Hospital will sponsor duplicate bridge classes beginning on January 9 at the Contra Costa Real Estate Board offices on Locust Street, Walnut Creek.

Every Monday Mrs. Lota From will instruct for 20 minutes of the 12 to 2:30 period.

The charge for each lesson will be 75 cents. Each player should bring her own partner or arrange for one within the group.

The general public and members of all Muir guilds are invited to join in these duplicate bridge sessions. There will be no refreshments — bridge alone will be served.

In charge of arrangements and reservations for the lessons are Mrs. Edward Losh, Mrs. Louis Rosen and Mrs. Hugh Frost.

Sierra Guild will contribute the proceeds of this course to the building fund of John Muir Memorial Hospital.

CHRISTMAS held extra joy this year for Dr. and Mrs. Frank H. Bradford of Walnut Creek and their daughter Becky, who shared the happy season with Heidi, Japanese AFS student who is making her home with them this year.

Prep Basketball League Play Starts Next Week

Las Lomas Favored in 'Even' Foothill League

The vacation will soon be over and while the various teams have been hard at it in practice sessions, the real work gets under way shortly after school opens Tuesday.

The league season begins in short order next Friday and, on the basis of pre-league season play, it looks as if the Foothill League is very well balanced, with the coaches agreeing that any one club could defeat any other one in any given game.

THE PRE-SEASON favorite, however, still remains Las Lomas. The Knights recently won the Miramonte tournament that saw them meeting and defeating every other team in the Foothill League to wind up on top as the only undefeated team in the two nights of play.

Top competition for the Knights looks to be Miramonte, while Piedmont, Acalanes and San Ramon are not too far behind. Alhambra, the circuit's newest entry, has had problems in early season play and will have a real problem in keeping out of the cellar.

The league play for January is as follows: Friday, Acalanes at Alhambra, San Ramon at Las Lomas, Piedmont at Miramonte; Tuesday, January 10, San Ramon at Acalanes, Alhambra at Piedmont, Las Lomas at Miramonte.

FRIDAY, January 13, Acalanes at Piedmont, Miramonte at San Ramon, Las Lomas at Alhambra; Tuesday, January 17, Miramonte at Acalanes, Piedmont at Las Lomas, Alhambra at San Ramon.

Friday, January 20, Acalanes at Las Lomas, Alhambra at Miramonte, San Ramon at Piedmont; Friday, January 27, Acalanes at San Ramon, Alhambra at Piedmont, Las Lomas at Miramonte.

Tuesday, January 31, Piedmont at Acalanes, Miramonte at San Ramon, Las Lomas at Alhambra.

Only the varsity will play on Tuesdays, while Friday night games will find the Bees in the opener starting at 7 p.m.

ACALANES HIGH School's student body president, Doug Tretor (center), is congratulated by Stanley Walgren, school principal, on the Dons' winning of the Foothill League's 1960 Football Sportsmanship Trophy. The trophy is presented annually to one of the seven schools in the league displaying the best student sportsmanship during the season. Student committees rate the schools each week. At the right, Stu Fox, Acalanes student body vice president, holds the Sportsmanship Trophy recently won by the Dons at the Miramonte Basketball Tournament.

Local Swimmers Are Entered in Phoenix Matches

Six local members of the Berkeley YMCA swim team left for Phoenix, Arizona, Tuesday to enter three days of competition in the Optimist Mid-Winter Aquatic Meet.

Location of the meet is the Olympic-sized pool at the Ramada Inn, where the Berkeley team will be staying.

Swim competition will be held through tomorrow. According to Tatto Yamashita, Berkeley Y coach, his swimmers will be entering age group events in all strokes, and those eligible will enter senior events, as well.

THE TEAM plans to spend New Year's Eve at the inn, and will start home the following morning.

Chaperones for the trip are Mrs. Pio Ghidella of Oakland and Don Hawes of Lafayette.

All of the six swimmers first became interested in competitive swimming because of summertime swim teams in this area. Gary Conrad, Bryan Hawes and Becky McKee were members of the Lafayette Youth Association swim team; Dick Pomeroy and John Ostrom competed on the Las Lomas team, and Susie Barkley was a member of the Sleepy Hollow swim team.

AS THEIR interest in the sport developed beyond the bounds of summertime swimming, these young athletes tried out for the Berkeley Y team. As members of this group, they attend a minimum of six workouts each week, all year round, under the direction of Coach Yamashita.

During school holidays and summer vacations, their regular evening swim sessions continue.

Seaport Bowlers Leading Monument's Busy Belles

Seaport Auto Parts maintained first place in the Busy Belles League at the Monument Bowl during the past week as they defeated Du-Mor Milk by three points.

Peg Disney's 448, which tied with Doris Hendrickson's score for high series honors, aided the second place Dulaney Farms as they took three points from Park and Shop Cleaners.

The third place Corbin's Pharmacy had both a high series winner and a high game winner as they coasted to another win. Marian Corder had a 175 game and the Hendrickson 448 aided Corbin's.

BLUEMONDAY 800 LEAGUE

Bob Nobles-Parker Robb took one point from Marchant Calculators to retain their hold on first place. Alves Pools retained their hold on second place, even though their opponents, Crenna's Tires, took all four points.

Orv Gruwell of Quaker House shot the high game of the night, 219.

E. C. Carlson of Crenna's Tires shot the high series of the night, 595, with games of 197, 183 and 215.

The Ski Line

Relax, Come Along and Ski Your Worries Away

By HEC HANCOCK

The ol' day-to-day routine getting you down? Find your enthusiasm lagging, your nerves battered? Suffering from holiday letdown? Well, hang on, ol' buddy, maybe I've got the remedy for you.

Gas the family bus us, throw your gear, assorted youngsters, wife, etc., in, and head for the mountains. Pick out a likely resort, say Sugar Bowl. Now accessible most of the way by four lane highways, the trip of approximately 165 miles can be made easily in less than four hours.

You'll enjoy the ride in the chair lift up the mountain in the crisp morning air. As you glide to the top of Mt. Lincoln, the Sierra spreads out in all their winter majesty.

Starting your downhill run, you pick your way through a maze of moguls, then warming to the task, let your skis run and experience the exhiliration of the sense of free flight.

Having found your ski legs, you lose your problems skiing under the pale blue winter skies.

The sun is surprisingly warm as you relax on the porch for lunch. Refreshed, you finish out the day and head home, ready to again tackle the pressures of making enough money to try the whole thing again next week.

You have recharged the batteries, and the whole family has profited.

What the so-called "shot gun" offense introduced by the 49ers is to pro football, "shortee skis" are to the winter mania. Introduced two or three years ago in the East as an instructional aid, these midget barrel staves have piqued the curiosity of skiers all over the country.

Only 2½ feet long, but of normal width, "shortee" skis look like something you would whip up for Junior's first go at the mountain. While good for chuckles, these short jobs have considerable to contribute.

It has been shown that skiing, and even parallel skiing, can be taught much easier, and much quicker on the abbreviated models. Once having learned the principles of Wedlin and short swing, it is an easy matter to transfer this ability to boards of conventional length.

Why transfer to the longer skis at all, you ask? Well, while serving a purpose, the "shortees" aren't suited to the varied demands of skiing. They are for the packed slope. Too, you can't achieve the speed, and because of their size, your skiing tends to be perky, lacking those smooth graceful turns.

Here's your big opportunity, Mom, the chance to make your big comeback, and show the rest of the family you can be real great on the slopes.

Dodge Ridge has announced their Golden Nugget Slaloms are again being heldd every weekend. These are open to all skiers, with gold, silver and bronze nugget awards going to those who complete the course in the necessary time. The courses are set particularly for the novice skier.

Mat Competition Opens January 17

The league wrestling season will open in the Foothill League in January with the opening matches taking place January 17.

Miramonte, with a host of returning veterans, has proven strong in practice meets and rates the favorite's role in the fast approaching league dual meet season.

THE LEAGUE consists of four teams, with Acalanes, Las Lomas, Miramonte and San Ramon competing on a varsity basis.

Del Valle has wrestling, but is taking part only on an independent schedule, inasmuch as they only have freshman and sophomore classes at the present time.

Acalanes Dist. Awards New $113,000 Contract

Pending legal approval of the contract, the Acalanes High School District trustees recently awarded the construction of an industrial arts building at Miramonte High School to the firm of Kirkham, Chaon and Kirkham of Walnut Creek.

Two new classrooms, one to house a woodworking class and the other a combination metal-working and auto shop, will cost $113,309.

The bid, lowest of 10 submitted, calls for occupancy at the start of the school year, 1961.

AWARD of this contract completes the building program for the current year and commits the remainder of the funds raised under the 1955 bond issue.

Superintendent Neil M. Parsons read a letter from the Lafayette Elementary School District requesting an expression of need for a flashing traffic signal at the intersection of Springhill and Pleasant Hill Roads, and a will-of installing such a light.

Trustees directed Parsons to determine the need of a signal by high school students and to make a report on which action may be based.

Working three hours a day, 38 students gained an insight into the actual working conditions in occupations ranging from technical assistant at the U. C. Radiation Laboratory to aiding an interior decorator during the past summer.

Later in the year board members will consider the possible expansion of this program to other schools of the district.

PRIZE WINNING design for the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center seal was created by William Gilman, left, area building designer. Pictured with Gilman is Mrs. M. G. Kennedy, unit coordinating chairman.

William Gilman Named Seal Contest Winner

Judges for the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center's Seal Contest have named William Gilman of 756 Hazelwood Drive, Walnut Creek, as winner.

Gilman is a building designer who maintains offices in Lafayette. His design for the City of Walnut Creek seal was also a winner. He is married and the father of three sons.

Judges for the contests were Mrs. M. G. Kennedy, chairman of the Unit Coordinating Council; Miss Betty Caldecott, a physiotherapist at the center, and Betty Pleshe, an art instructor.

The contest was a unit project.

Family 'Adopts' 2nd Needy Child

Mr. and Mrs. Alan B. Peter, 32 El Gavilan, have financially "adopted" Leonhard Marinski, a seven-year-old Polish - Ukrainian boy now living in West Germany, through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., in New York City.

Under the plan, the foster parents have promised to contribute $15 a month toward the child's support for at least one year.

THE PETERS have had another child under the adoption plan since 1958, Spyridoula Lomi, a 10-year-old Greek girl.

Leonhard lives with his ailing mother and two sisters and a brother in a one room flat in West Germany. His father died of tuberculosis in 1959.

Foster Parents' Plan, which has rehabilitated more than 76,000 children on a personal basis since its founding in 1937, is now helping more than 19,000 youngsters in Greece, Italy, South Korea, France, Viet Nam and Hong Kong.

DURING THE past 23 years, more than 600,000 individuals and groups in America have helped needy children overseas through the plan.

Of the $15 monthly sum, the child receives $8 each month as an outright cash grant. The remainder is used for periodic food and new clothing packages, translations of letters, medical services and education.

The plan is a non-profit, nonpropaganda, non-sectarian, independent, government-approved relief organization.

Library Friends To Hold Party

The Orinda Library Friends committee met recently at the home of Mrs. C. H. Sorrick, chairman.

Tentative plans for a benefit dessert-bridge to be held early next spring were discussed.

Texaco Grant for St. Mary's

St. Mary's College again has been selected by Texaco Inc. as one of the privately financed United States colleges and universities to be included in the company's aid-to-education program.

Brother S. Albert, F.S.C., president of St. Mary's, announced the receipt of Texaco's 1500 check this week. The grant is for the 1960-61 academic year, and is without restriction as to its use.

The grant to St. Mary's is a part of some $700,000 the company will distribute in support of higher education for the 1960-61 academic year, the company stated, and is based on the belief that an investment in America's youth and the continued well-being of its colleges and universities is an investment in the future welfare of the economy and the country.

Mentally Ill Remembered On Christmas

The County Mental Health Association's Christmas Project director, Mrs. I. F. Edmister of Walnut Creek, announced, "Some 1400 of our mentally ill friends were remembered this Christmas because of the excellent response to the appeal made by the association."

Assisting with the project in the west part of the county was Mrs. W. H. Garoutte of Kensington.

"Forty groups and organizations, as well as many individuals, learned the joy of giving at the Christmas season," she said.

Many groups took lists of patients' names that otherwise would have been forgotten.

They purchased gifts and wrapped them individually for the patients. Children's groups made favors, place cards, nut cups, boutonnierres, games, dish gardens and tree decorations.

Others contributed money, cookies, cakes, candy and gift wrappings. A truck took these gifts, with clothing and magazines to Napa State Hospital just before Christmas.

Patients in the psychiatric ward at the Contra Costa County Hospital in Martinez received parakeets, plants, gifts and magazines through the project.

The Volunteer Bureau of Contra Costa County gave a tremendous amount of help to the project, along with King Parker Jr., who donated the use of a warehouse for storage of the articles before shipment to Napa.

County Adds Population In 10 Years

All Contra Costa cities combined grew 23 per cent from their 1950 population, and the unincorporated areas together grew 57 per cent.

Biggest growth figures for the cities have Pinole at the top with 428 per cent. Its population increased from 1147 to 6064.

Concord was second with a 420 per cent growth over the 10-year period. Its population went from 6953 to 36,208.

Walnut Creek was third with a 309 per cent increase—from 2420 to 9903.

Percentage increases in other cities were considerably less or they indicated losses of population.

For instance, Richmond shows a 27 per cent decrease and Hercules shows a 10 per cent decrease.

These figures, taken from a report from the County Development Association, also indicated that the county's over-all population of 409,030 is a 37 per cent increase over 1950.

Contra Costa County is now tenth in California, whereas in 1950 is was the fifth largest county.

During the last 10 years, it has also dropped behind Orange, Santa Clara, San Mateo, San Bernardino and Sacramento Counties.

Mark Returns Mexico's Hospitality; Edmundo Meets California

The Sun

Orinda Sun Friday, Dec. 30, 1960 Page 13

HOW CAN YOU see San Francisco if you don't take a cable car ride? Mark saw to it that Edmundo, front, got a ride on the famous little cars. The young man behind Mark and Edmundo is as interested in Edmundo as Edmundo was interested in the cable car.

Here's the Other Side of The Hospitality Coin . . .

Remember when Mark Silverman went to Mexico last summer? He stayed with Edmundo Garza Jr., son of the owner of Garza Travel Service in Mexico, and he received all the hospitality that that warm country has to offer.

Well, recently Edmundo came to California to be Mark's guest. Naturally, this included a trip to San Francisco, as well as a tour of our lovely area.

These pictures show a little bit of the other side of the hospitality coin . . . Edmundo in California.

THERE ARE SCHOOLS here, too, as Edmundo finds out, and from a good source. Mark, left, introduced Edmundo (center) to Acalanes High School, where he met Ramon Escobedo Jr., 17, of Mexico City, who is staying with Mr. and Mrs. Jens Lund, 3361 Mildred Lane, while he attends Acalanes. He showed Edmundo around.

FISHERMAN'S WHARF is a must on the agenda. Edmundo, left, and Mark are perhaps comparing fishing notes—California vs. Mexico's warm waters?

BUT IT CAN'T BE all travelling around. Here Edmundo joins the hospitality provided by his hosts, the young Silvermans. Left to right are Janet, Edmundo, Danny and Mark. Edmundo is being introduced to the mysteries of electric football.

COIT TOWER IS a must on any agenda, and Edmundo had to take a couple of pictures to take home to the folks.

ENTERPRISE-EFFICIENCY=ABUNDANCE

Cooperative enterprise is efficient. In the year just past, it proved efficient enough in competition with other forms of private enterprise to permit 17,000 East Bay families to say, "We saved ourselves $438,000 this year. This was our co-op's net earnings in 1960. This is what we did with it:

Paid Federal Income Tax		$ 74,502
Contributed to our employees' savings-sharing plan		37,715
Added to our Reserve Fund		32,564
Paid to ourselves	Share Dividends (4%)	$ 46,634
	Patronage Refund (3.2%)	246,442
		$293,076

Checks totalling $114,000 have been mailed to about 4500 of us bringing an added measure of abundance to us and to our community. The remaining $110,000 has been added to the share accounts of the other members. These savings (profits to other businesses) frequently leave the community—move to the financial centers. Were it not for the Co-op, much of this money would have gone there too. Instead, it will be spent right here—perhaps in every store in town.

Suburbia Scribblings

By MARIE MONAHAN

Remembrance of Things Past . . .

THE SENTIMENTAL SEASON . . . The children's many letters to Santa still kicking around on the dressers, in the drawers & you sentimentally wondering shall you save them . . .

Despite your dead-tiredness, hauling the girls of your daughter's Girl Scout Troop to Kaiser Hospital for a beautiful caroling in the corridors . . . A credit to Mr. Luoma for teaching them group singing.

For our caroling, the fun shared following the sing at the party hostessed by Libby Brock's Troop at the Brock's charming new home out Diablo View way . . . The singing of Grace preceding the punch & cookies & the songs that followed in front of the fireplace in true Good Girl Scout spirit!

A busy day shopping, making hamburgers on-the-run for dinner, the children chortling & calling them "Humbuggers" for Christmas hamburgers . . . The pleasing sight of discovering tiny presents carefully wrapped for you by the children, all of which they bought or blew for out of their own money.

CHRISTMAS WEEK & the children each having "Their Day" in SF w/their father or me . . . The awesome sight of the City of Paris tree scaling to the ceiling . . . The similar wonder of Podesta & Baldocchi's floral Fairyland . . . the jeune fille gently squeezing her way up front to the ice skating show in the windows of the White House.

The elegance of Post St. shops & the glory of Gump's window display . . . The fun of buying pate foie & almond paste at Goldberg-Bowen . . . the treat of "lunch out" . . . the various Toylands.

The surprise of lending a hand at SF Civic Center, helping to hand the men high on ladders the huge star that was to trim the top of the tall slender tree.

The youngsters surprised to see some of their suburban friends in the city & our youngest boy who sold our English Holly standing & staring in disbelief at the high-priced holly (little bits for four-bits & a dollar) at the SF flower stands.

AROUND TOWN . . . Pretty blonde Mrs. Lyle York in Phair's saying she'd been up decorating the house until 3 ayem in the morning . . . Ellen Harnett, sporting a mink collar on a black sweater, looking more like a slim coed than a mother of four . . . Tom Ferguson giving us tips on buying a football in Collier's Sports Unlimited . . . Pat Omo popping into Odgen's from a lingering lunch at Petar's.

The John Ogden's AFS student from Iran, Abbass Haghighat, rapidly writing our sales, taking care of our gift wrap in a most gracious & distinguished manner . . . Tiny Tony Dalton cozy in a camelhair coat w/a fetching fur collar . . . The cherub statuary in front of Phair's looking awfully cute—but awfully cold!

The annual haul from our Nordic Supply Market & the delight at unwrapping each yummy item . . . the Danish goose liver, salt herring (we'd fix it like Pop used to) the Tuborg ale & Tybo cheese, the tiny strands of Norwegian flags that needed replacing, the flat-brod & the fiskeboller, the goodies galore that my Irish husband bravely asked for in the Scandinavian pronounciation he's learned from me!

Memories Are Made of This . . .

THE EBEDNEZAR SCROOGE feeling overtaking me as I found I was keeping track of the cookies on the cookie tree. Too fastly disappearing & the same sly little fingers finding the cannisters of candy & cookies stored. (C'mon kids, let's save SOME for Christmas!)

EARLY WEE HOURS . . . Just the carols on the radio & me . . . wandering aimlessly around the hushed house wondering WHAT on earth it was I meant to do. Oh, yes, in the midst of Merry Christmas, don't forget a dime under the pillow for the latest tooth!

AT PHAIR'S . . . Chris Lank wearing a tiny sequined felt tree in her coif . . . Teacher Edith Andree sporting a red felt Santa in her lapel. At Black's, George Jackson wearing a holly-leaf felt bow tie trimmed w/red berries . . .

MEMORIES ARE MADE of this: Shopping w/my daughter & buying her the sassiest red shoes to be found . . . For the boys, Christmas red shirts. Wrapping a tiny gold angel in a plump box for a teen angel we know, that being Susan Cox.

The children LEAPING to the mailbox at every screech of the postman's tires . . . Smiling at strangers just because I felt that way & not the least surprised when they warmly smiled back!

Jean Bowman leaving the Orinda Camera Shop after taking camera lessons, the better to teach her medic husband the complex workings of the new Land Camera she bought for him. The Bowmans celebrate a B'day, Anniversary & Christmas all on the same day & you thought YOU had gift problems!

IN OUR full old-fashioned tree, a paper stork from Denmark bought in Sausalito last year, having some significance on the tree THIS season . . . Beside him a sleeping angel-doll, the sweet gift from Eva Parker . . . A holiday call from Eva & her husband Norm who unpacked from their desert vacation, packed up again to fly to Portland.

Tall John Barron hoisting his wee tots onto the pink horse afront Safeway the afternoon of Christmas Eve . . . His wife Caroline, like a mistletoe sprite in a head-hugging hat sparkling w/green dollar-size sequins . . . Hearing about the party the Barrons co-hosted w/the Jim Hills & of another Mel & Mary Colwell gave at their new home in Altarinda.

THE CHRISTMAS SING at school & Mr. Luoma suddenly shedding his coat for none other, you guessed it, the singing of his favorite "Twelve Days Of Christmas." We'll all get it right, YET!

The orchestra's terrific rendition of "Sleigh Ride" & our son listening as carefully as a critic . . . He had to sit this one out becuase of a broken finger. He plays clarinet & of course, you know what the clarinet is, don't you? "A woodwind that no one blows good!" (Well, we heard it SOMEplace!)

The Christing sing remembrance of the solemn concentration of the choral group . . . ditto the orchestra w/Garry Woodcock unconcernedly chewing his gum in rhythm to the beat of the drums he was playing.

Ode to the Housewives . . .

THE FUN of a special note from Jan Soubielle who composed & wrote, we quote—"To A Housewife On Christmas Eve."—

"Tis the night before Christmas & all through the house, A creature's been stirring & stirring—a spouse . . . Dozens of goods from the grocery shelves, have danced through her bowls like so many elves. Came raisins & walnuts, came cherries & citron, she beat them & baked them, then cleaned up the kitchen. Charged she through the stores bearing budget & list, Forgot was the budget but no one was missed . . ."

AND MORE . . . "From a house all scrubbed & shining with care, her Christmas decor peeks out everywhere . . . Oh, the hours she spent on giving a party & going to some, she tried to seem hearty.

"All the presents lie hidden in gaily-decked boxes, the last little surprises are tucked in the soxes. All stuffed & trussed up in his foil paper bower, Mr. Turkey lies resting for his final hour," etc. "Yes, all is bedecked but Mother's a sight! Merry Christmas to all housewives & a TIRED Goodnight . . ." & ain't it the truth!!!

THE CHILDREN who behaved so badly before we got out OUR door, acting like angels at a party for three close families, 3 couples, 10 children & No Wonder! Centering the huge red table-clothed table, a gingerbread house fastidiously frosted right down to lovebirds on the roof, posies in the window box, THIS under a big glass dome, the kind used in the old days to house a 50# wheel of cheese.

Dancing around the outside, an army of gingerbread men & ladies. Over all, suspended from the ceiling, a popcorn ball mobile, sprigs of pine & cones making them look like real snowballs . . . & the gift to ME, a huge Mexican paper pinata-type STORK!

Before midnight mass, caroling at the Bill Marshall's & wondering if we couldn't squeeze a Hammond organ into OUR house someplace. Our youngest couldn't leave it alone! Played two layers—by ear!

Another memory to chuckle over . . . Picking up my oldest son & a friend who had gathered mistletoe by the laundrybag full & almost being embarassed, they looked like Two Thieves of Bagdad!

Evie Roberts skinning her knees outside church on Christmas Eve & kneeling down on two badly-scraped ones, thereby causing someone to remark that she took "Fall On Your Knees" a little too seriously!

A MILLION things to do but sitting down to scissor tiny pieces from old cards to copy a gilded tree seen in a florist shop . . . Hearing that Doris Fernsten did a handsome job on tiny table trees & sold the lovely things to Podesta & Baldocchi . . .

For something different at Christmas, the yellow satin ribbon swagging the stairway greens at the Bill Robinsons . . . the lavender tulle table cloth sashed at each end in purple satin bows over the James DuPuises (Nancy's favorite color).

Among the Christmas cards . . . The humor of the one from the Ernie Spiegls—a girl angel sans wings but WITH scissors, eyeing the wings of a little boy angel . . . From the Perc Browns a fine old print on parchment paper, beautiful enough to frame . . . Lighting the bayberry candles from Joan & Jack McCorkle delivered right on Christmas Eve . . . A Christmas card from the Joe Creightons in far off exurbs of Connecticut who weren't complaining about the Donner-type blizzard raging outside their doors . . . & saying they still enjoy The SUN.

McBANE'S finest Dale & Fran (of McBane's Finest Coffee) sending up one of their crazy coffee calendars from down South & writing they miss Orinda Very Much but enjoy The SUN wkly. too.

Joanne Davison elated over her successful candle-making. She sold enough decorated beauties over the holidays to add a sizeable chunk to her Horse Fund.

AND SPKG. of horses, no one could be happier than the Frederick Johnson's daughter Elena who was presented Her Horse at the start of Christmas Vacation. She's on Cloud #9 for it came as a real surprise!

Four Want Re-Election to Junior College District

Four trustees of the Contra Costa Junior College District whose terms expire this year or were extended from 1960 due to changes in the state education code, have filed declaration of candidacy for reelection with County Superintendent of Schools Floyd I. Marchus.

They are Board President O. J. Wohlgemuth of Walnut Creek, Ward Four; William J. Kretzmer of El Cerrito, Ward One, vice president; George R. Gordon, of Martinez, Ward Three, secretary, and Glenn L. Clemetson of Richmond, Ward Two.

Changes in the education code by the 1959 legislature extended the terms of all school trustees from three to four years and made elections biennial instead of annual.

THE LEGISLATURE also decreed that elections hereafter shall be held in odd-numbered years.

Accordingly, trustees elected in 1959 had their terms extended to 1963, while those whose terms expired this year had their terms extended to 1961.

Still to be determined by the county superintendent's office is the manner in which two-year and four-year terms shall be handed out to the successful candidates.

In the case of the junior college district, Marchus said, there will be one two-year term and three four-year terms.

THE ONLY trustee not concerned with this spring's election April 18 is Fred R. Abbott of Brentwood.

An original board member appointed in 1949 following formation of the junior college district, Abbott had his term extended to 1963.

Two of the trustees seeking reelection are also original board members. They are Wohlgemuth and Gordon.

Wohlgemuth, head of the Sunberry Company of San Francisco, was chairman of the Contra Costa School Redistricting Committee which in 1948 recommended formation of the junior college district and which brought about unification of the Mt. Diablo Unified School District.

HE IS a former president and general manager of Cassou's French Bakeries, Oakland, and former vice president of the Orowheat Baking Company of San Francisco. A native of Iowa, he graduated from Grinnell College in that state.

Gordon, attorney and partner in the Martinez-Richmond law firm of Carlson, Collins, Gordon and Bold, is a graduate of Richmond schools and a former Richmond school teacher.

He obtained his bachelor of science degree from St. Mary's College, took graduate work at the University of California and studied law at the Oakland College of Law, being admitted to the bar in 1938.

Gordon saw four years of duty with the Army in the European theater of operations during World War II.

KRETZMER, also an attorney, was appointed to the board in March of 1959 to succeed Elton Brombacher of Richmond. He is a former president of both the Richmond and Contra Costa bar associations, along with the Richmond Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Richmond-El Cerrito division of the National Safety Council.

Clemetson, assistant cashier in the real estate department of The Mechanics Bank, Richmond, is also a comparative newcomer to the board, being appointed last June to succeed Edgar W. Dale.

He is a native of Wisconsin and a graduate of the University of North Dakota. His wife, Esther, has been a teacher with the Richmond schools system for more than 12 years. The couple are the parents of four children.

Junior college trustees are elected on a ward basis set up similar to supervisorial district lines.

Marsh Creek Play Area Job at Issue

Contra Costa County Supervisors met last week to consider a $40,000 expenditure that will provide for eventual recreational facilities at the proposed Marsh Creek flood control project near Brentwood.

Harry Morrison, executive director of the County Taxpayers' Association, stalled board action last week when he labeled the proposal just the start of what will eventually mean a $300,000 expenditure of county funds.

Unless additional land is acquired for park and boat landing use and access roads built to serve them, no recreational use of the Marsh Creek Dam and lake is possible, Morrison said.

C. C. Rich, county flood control engineer, said the board must decide now whether the dam is going to retain water in a permanent lake or discharge constantly.

Rich said the Federal Government cannot complete plans for the structure until the county decides whether it wants to put up $40,000 to hold down the water table below the dam.

Rich said, while the appropriation would allow future recreational use of the lake that is not the primary consideration.

St. Anselm's Is Featured in Time

The recently dedicated St. Anselm's Episcopal Church, 682 Michael Lane, Lafayette, is one of a group of modern churches featured in the December 26 issue of Time Magazine.

The new church, vicar of which is the Reverend Clarence Stacy, is pictured in color in the magazine, along with several other distinctive churches from throughout the United States.

The picture caption says, "Architect Olav Hammarstrom prefers wood as 'a human, warm material,' lighted church with low windows to add note of mystery."

Heart Sunday Fund Drive Set

Mrs. C. C. Willert of Walnut Creek will be in charge of the county-wide Heart Sunday drive to be conducted by the Contra Costa County Heart Association in February.

This announcement was made by Dr. Floyd Marchus, 1961 Heart Fund chairman.

Climax of the drive will be a one-day residential campaign on Heart Sunday, February 26.

THIS WILL mark the sixth annual Heart Sunday to be conducted in the county.

To assist in recruiting thousands of volunteers to make the rounds in every residential area, Mrs. Willert will appoint area chairmen in local communities.

The chairman says that she is counting heavily on volunteers who have participated in previous campaigns, those who have a special interest in the conquest of the heart diseases because of their own family experiences, as well as new recruits.

"Heart Fund volunteers need no previous experience," Mrs. Willert said.

"MANY WORKERS from past campaigns have already signed up to serve in the 1961 Heart Fund, but there is still need of new volunteers in every community."

In addition to calling for Heart Fund contributions, volunteers perform a valuable service in distributing information presenting the latest knowledge about heart attacks, rheumatic fever, high blood pressure and strokes.

Mrs. Willert gained experience in the 1959 and 1960 campaigns as Walnut Creek Area Heart Sunday chairman. She serves on the board of directors of the Contra Costa County Heart Association as volunteer chairman.

An active participant in community affairs over a period of years, Mrs. Willert is a past president of Starlings Unit of the Mt. Diablo Therapy Center and of the Women's Auxiliary to the Associated Plumbing Contractors of Contra Costa County.

THE WILLERTS live at 161 Warwick Drive and are the parents of three children—Mrs. Joe Pereira, Jr., Martinez; Charles, 18, and Carol Ann, 14.

"Service as a Heart Fund volunteer is a satisfying way of helping our Heart Association fight the nation's Number 1 health enemy," Mrs. Willert said.

"Those who volunteer may be sure of a ready welcome from neighbors who appreciate the efforts to distribute health-saving information.

"More and more residents are becoming aware of the necessity for contributing funds to help, especially in the research phase of the Heart Association program," she continued.

"BUT THE work of public and professional education is equally important. It is by this means that the results of research are transmitted to the individual in the form of treatment or preventive care.

"Community service programs aim to provide services to heart disease victims to help them on the road to recovery.

"These include help with diet, work simplification, information and referral services, and advice and assistance with vocational problems."

Audubon Bird Count Will Be Christmas Week

The Mt. Diablo Audubon Society will again participate in the annual National Audubon bird count conducted every year during Christmas week throughout the U.S.

The counters will assemble near the Monument north of Walnut Creek, Highway 21, December 26. Under the leadership of Lynn Farrar they will make up teams, each with an assigned area planned to cover a circle of 15 miles diameter. This will include various habitats from mountain to shore.

The regular monthly meeting will follow the customary Christmas Count dinner that evening at the Farrar home in Lafayette. Dinner will be about 6 p.m. and members planning to come are asked to contact Mrs. Farrar at AT 3-3938.

Area Residents Are Attending Brigham Young

Twenty-three students from the central county area are among the 1952 from California who are attending Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, this semester.

Brigham Young University, with 10,305 students, is one of the largest universities in the intermountain area. It is operated by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints and is made up of 58 departments in 11 colleges.

Local students attending the university are:

First Aid Instructors Are Graduated

New first aid instructors were recently certified after completing an 18-hour first aid instructors course. Instructor Trainer Karl Mahler of the Greater Mt. Diablo Chapter, American Red Cross, taught the course.

These new instructors are prepared to demonstrate for fraternal groups the new mouth-to-mouth resuscitation method of artificial respiration.

Arrangements for a speaker can be made by calling the Greater Mt. Diablo Chapter.

New instructors certified are William Erickson of Antioch; Mrs. Paula Martin, Alamo; Mrs. Lucille Melvin and Mrs. Betty Smothers, Danville, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Covey, San Pablo.

Also certified, after completing a review course for first aid instructors were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams and Miss Elsie Williams, Pleasant Hill; William Koch, Orinda; Ralph Gallagher, Antioch, and John Connolly, Walnut Creek.

Your Garden

Checklist of Bygones Helps Make Resolutions

If for no other reason, we should welcome the end of a calendar year as a point in time from which to start anew. And this holds just as true for the gardener as for any other sinner.

While chalking up your year-end list of regrets and proposed resolutions, think back through your garden year and let your conscience be your guide. We bet there isn't one gardener in ten who feels he couldn't have improved on things.

LET'S LOOK at our lawns, for instance. Do they reflect the loving care of a head greenskeeper, or do they look more like the rough beyond a fairway?

Make a note on your check list to indicate just what you think went wrong and next week resolve to do something about it in 1961.

Did your roses look as fresh and full in fall as they did in spring? Or did they reflect a certain neglect? Perhaps you forgot to follow your planned spray schedule or failed to feed them as the California Association of Nurserymen recommended. Be objective and list your shortcomings as a rose gardener.

AND THAT front parkway—did weeds get out of hand because you put off planting a ground cover that might have choked them out? Did the parking strip detract from an otherwise pleasant approach to your house?

One of the most important things you can do at year's end is to take your check list in hand and sally forth into the garden. There, in the zealous spirit of reform, write down all you see that could be improved in 1961. This will include uprooting worn-out or overgrown plant material—rearranging plant beds, moving shrubs and planning new plantings.

You may not accomplish half of what you firmly resolve to do. But you are at least setting yourself a goal, and gardening will be more exciting because of it.

There Are Plenty Of Camellia to Please Everyone

Barring roses, there's no garden favorite you can name that offers more faces to the public than a camellia.

There are well over a thousand different varieties in the world, and it sometimes seems that almost that many are to found in the nursery trade. You can find them in every size and shape.

WITH SUCH a selection, it's inevitable that the cult of camellia fanciers is large. And it's further inevitable that new varieties are ever being introduced to keep the cultists happy. The result, of course, is a wonderful world of plenty for the home gardener.

In recent years, the seekers of camellia perfection have established the All-America Camellia selections. And if you are looking for a favorite variety you would do well to start with them.

Members of the California Association of Nurserymen are now offering two new AA camellias—King's Ransom and Bonnie Marie.

KING'S RANSOM is a luscious big pink camellia of the japonica class. Bonnie Maris is a silvery-pink new hybrid.

Students Competing For Cash

The outstanding science or mathematics student has been selected by each of four area high schools for entry in the National Engineers' Week scholarship competition.

They are as follows: Las Lomas High — Don Cook Jensen of 210 Lakewood Road, Walnut Creek; Miramonte High — David C. Wright of 44 Valencia Road, Orinda; Acalanes High — Robert Southworth III of 3522 Freeman Road, Walnut Creek; San Ramon Valley High — Warren M. Garrison of 2631 Danville Highway, Alamo.

These and students from many other high schools will be interviewed by local engineers who will pick 10 zone winners.

The zone winners will be interviewed in January at the University of California.

Top prize is a $1000 scholarship, and second prize is a $600 scholarship.

Use Channels, District Board Urges Teachers

Contra Costa Junior College Board at their meeting last week told County Junior College District teachers that it is best that they go through administrative channels rather than confer directly with the district's board of governors.

Officers of the district education association appeared before the board to back up a request for more open conferences with the board on policy matters.

Board members gently rebuffed the officers by telling them that board members were laymen and cooperation between teachers and administration makes issues easier for the board to understand.

O. J. Wohlgemuth told the teacher representative, Robert Martincich, association vice president, that if the teachers could convince the administration on their ideas, they would have powerful allies. He said that if they couldn't convince them, then they could come to the board.

The teachers and the administration headed by Supt. Drummond J. McCunn have been feuding for the past year.

3c Per Day Is Cost for Late Book

Charges for overdue books borrowed from the 27 libraries—17 branches, eight stations, and two bookmobiles—in the Contra Costa County Library system, will be increased to three cents per day for adults, effective Sunday, by order passed November 27 by the board of supervisors.

Overdue book charges to children will remain at two cents each day a book is overdue.

"The increase is made because the former two cent fine on all overdue books has not encouraged prompt return of library books," said County Librarian Mrs. Bertha D. Hellum.

"The board of supervisors shares our concern over the number of books kept out of circulation by failure to return them within the two week loan period."

With an insufficient number of books for the growing county population, it is pointed out that prompt return of books means they may be read by more people.

Generations of boards of library trustees, government officials responsible for library operation, and librarians have discussed effective means of convincing book

Unemployment On Increase In County

An estimated 9000 out of a work force of 66,000 are unemployed in Contra Costa County, so learned the County Supervisors Tuesday from County Social Service Director William Golden.

Hardest hit, according to Golden, are industrial and construction trades workers. He said industries throughout Contra Costa are experiencing heavy layoffs. One firm, he reported, has laid off everyone employed since June, 1950.

The supervisors learned that unemployment in Contra Costa County has risen almost 57 per cent during the recent months. The number of unemployment insurance applications jumped from 16,810 in November of 1959 to 25,869 last month.

Golden said, "We're not alone in this problem. The same thing is happening throughout the state and to a great extent throughout the naion. Many of these people will be on relief if the situation doesn't improve."

Golden requested additional workers to help clear waiting rooms of applicants for unemployment benefits. "We aren't budgeted to handle something like this," re said. "If it continues, we may have to lean substantially on the county's $600,000 unappropriated reserve this winter.

Ballet Russe To Visit Bay Area

The favorite company for many balletomanes, Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, returns to the Bay Area January 9 for one performance at Berkeley Community Theatre and four performances in the Opera House opening Friday evening, January 13.

Two performances are scheduled on Saturday and the engagement closes with a matinee on Sunday afternoon.

Prima Ballerina Nina Novak and Premier Danseur George Zoritch lead the company which this year adds to its list of brilliant soloists the internationally known ballerinas from Paris, Helene Trailine and Tania Chevtchenko, and the noted premier danseur, Igor Youskevitch.

Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo's touring repertoire this season includes: Les Sylphides, The Nutcracker, Gaite Parisienne, Coppelia, Swan Lake, Ballet Imperial, The Blue Bird and Le Beau Danube.

Free Films Tell About Cancer

Dr. Charles J. Hart announced a variety of interesting films available now on free loan from the Contra Costa Branch of the American Cancer Society.

In addition to providing the films, the society arranges for a local physician to answer questions of the audience, Hart, president of the county branch, said.

The films available include cartoons as well as documentary pictures about cancer research or the diagnosis and treatment of cancer.

THE CARTOONS include "Inside Magoo," "Sappy Homiens," and "Man Alive!" each of which is less than 15 minutes long.

Films for women include "Breast Self-Examination" and "Time and Two Women," the former concerned with cancer of the breast and the latter with cancer of the uterus.

For male audiences, the society has "The Warning Shadow," a film about cancer of the lung.

Films of general interest include "Never Alone," which describes the work of the American Cancer Society.

"LIVING Insurance" is a film stressing the importance of annual health checkups, and "The Other City" makes to point that enough people to populate a city could be saved from cancer each year through early detection and treatment.

All films may be obtained by contacting the Contra Costa Society at 2030 North Main Street in Walnut Creek.

County Cuts Cardroom Fees

License fees charged cardroom operators and their employees have been reduced by the Contra Costa County Board of Supervisors.

The board set a $100 per table annual license fee with a maximum of four tables per cardroom and reduced from $100 to $25 the license fee charged each dealer.

Currently the county charges each cardroom $100 per year, plus $300 for each card table it operates. The board also increased from seven to eight the number of players allowed at each table.

Supervisors rejected a request of extension of the 2 a.m. closing hour, presented by Attorney David J. Levy on behalf of the cardroom operators.

Sanitary Board Considers Land

Directors of the Central Contra Costa Sanitary District have authorized the staff to negotiate for the purchase of a parcel of land at the rear of the district office site on Springbrook Road, Walnut Creek.

The land, comprising 21,777 square feet, belongs to the state. The cost is expected to be about $2177.

Also under consideration by the board is a state-owned parcel fronting on the freeway access road and Springbrook Road, adjacent to the office site.

Cost of this land would be about $12,437 for 9950 square feet.

William Dalton, district administrative engineer, said he and the manager, Gerry Horstkotte, envisioned this section as parking space to relieve other areas.

President of the Board Richard Mitchell asked Dalton to prepare a plan of projected buildings, storage and parking areas, and to make a thorough review of costs.

Mitchell said the rear property need appears to be greater.

School Groups Study Boundary Changes

Contra Costa County's expanding municipalities are creating new headaches for schools and the Contra Costa County Committee on School District Organization, already struggling with the problems of school organization.

City boundaries increasingly tend to overlap school district boundaries, which change much less rapidly and easily.

School district boundary changes, the committee found, can disrupt the internal operation of the school district. The committee has received recent petitions for change, on which is required by law to make recommendations to the Board of Supervisors.

One of the immediate problems is that under present law the bonded indebtedness for which taxpayers of a unified district are responsible does not transfer with them when their area is shifted to another school district.

Another, a long-range problem, is that the present district boundaries are subject to change because of unification studies now under way, and interim boundary changes may interfere with the ultimate arrangements.

It was the latter basis that the committee recommended against a proposed change of the Dollar Ranch property from the Alamo-San Ramon School Districts to Walnut Creek-Acalanes School Districts.

The committee pointed out that a $9000 study of possible unification in the Acalanes area is currently being undertaken by Odell Associates of Stanford University and a similar study of the San Ramon area by the committee itself.

It recommended denial of a boundary change that would remove territory from Mt. Diablo Unified School District on the grounds of inequity because of loss to the district of bond tax monies. The petition seeks transfer of a portion of Mt. Diablo to the Alhambra-Martinez district.

The committee's January schedule reflects the accelerated study of unification in the face of a 1963 deadline for a master plan of unified districts in Contra Costa County. State law provides that if the county committee fails to prepare such a plan, the job is delegated to the State Department of Education.

Employees Go Over the Top

County employees contributed $13,944 to the United Crusade drive this year, according to Art Seeley, Crusade county employee chairman.

He said this figure is 104 per cent of their goal.

Population In Contra Costa Over 400,000

The 1960 Census of Population Advance Report gives the final population count for Contra Costa County as 409,030.

The total urban population was reported to be 331,863, or 81.1 per cent.

Urban population is divided into urbanized areas with a population count of 186,510, and other urbanized territory with a count of 145,353.

According to the report the total rural population, 77,167, is considerably less than the urban total.
